

The Citizens Bank

536-3401

Honed for the holidays

What would the holidays be without public Christmas decorations to sharpen the appetites for celebration? Adults feel an urge to go shopping and children know that Santa is making a last toy tally when wreaths, red balls and twinkling lights appear on utility poles. Here James Cochran of Gainesville is putting trim on poles at Lakeshore Mall in Gainesville. (Times photo by Tim Hogan)

Clipped from THE TIMES

Sunday, November 26, 1978