The Direct Perception of Nature Through the Intelligence of the Heart

Trish Corbett will share with us what she has learned about the intelligence of the heart and its crucial role in the direct perception of Nature. She will focus on the consciousness of plants and the presence of consciousness throughout Nature.

In antiquity, many cultures located consciousness in the heart. Because of this they had the capacity to connect their own consciousness with other living organisms, including plants. In our culture, we do not understand that the heart is an organ of perception and communication. However, this lost knowledge is being re-discovered today through exciting work by many different people.
