May 18-20, 2018

Maya Kollman and Renee Morgan:
209 Blackwell Road, Pennington, NJ 08534

This workshop is for you if you:

Would like to heal issues in your relationship with your mother, father, adult son/daughter or step child.

Would like to safely address an issue you have been carrying for a long time.

Would like to express love and validation for each other and deepen an already healthy relationship.

Have experienced hurtful interactions or transgressions of personal boundaries and long to have your pain heard and acknowledged.

Want to engage in dialogue to release your son or daughter into adulthood and create a mutually satisfying and respectful relationship.

This workshop provides you with the opportunity to:

Address previously unspoken feelings, clear up misunderstandings and heal old injuries.

Practice a more emotionally safe and respectful way of interacting.

Recognize that even painful experiences can foster growth and strength in your relationship.

Ensure that difficult emotional experiences will not be passed onto future generations.

Enjoy each other in a relaxed comfortable atmosphere with others who are on the journey too.

Cost: $800 Pair

This workshop is for mothers/fathers and adult daughters/sons

who have the courage to safely work on an authentic mutually satisfying relationship.

Unresolved family patterns can sabotage individual growth, subtly emerge in romantic relationships, and influence parenting styles. Thus, often unconsciously, they will be passed on to the next generation.

Through guided structured dialogues that support empathic listening, the parent/child pair becomes conscious of relationship dynamics in their own family, gaining opportunity to rewrite old family patterns and create a legacy of love and supportive relationships.

Your privacy and confidentiality will be respected and requested. We work in a team and you will be fully supported throughout this workshop.
