Do you ever wonder what a MACA graduate would say about their time spent here? For the next few weeks we will be featuring answers to that question.

What MACA Means To Me

If I had to choose one word to describe the essence of MACA, I would choose the word "love." I have never felt more loved anywhere else in the world than I have at Mountain Area Christian Academy. Every moment at MACA was wonderful. I remember my first day of school at MACA in the eighth grade. I didn't know anyone, but everyone in the school was so kind to me. One of the upper classmen went out of his way every day of the school year, my first year, to make sure he spoke to me. I remember when we were at high school retreat, and the student-led praise band was playing for the first time. They played "the Revelation Song," and we all sang along. It was such a pure moment, and I can still remember the feeling of the Spirit in that room. I remember being so troubled that night and while I was praying, one of my teachers came up beside me and prayed with me, never knowing what was troubling me. MACA is a place where anyone can come with any kind of burdens and be genuinely loved by passionate followers of Christ. I remember laughing with my best friends on the entire way home from a basketball game one night. We got home near midnight, but despite my exhaustion, I remember feeling so happy and content. The next morning at school, we all looked and felt exhausted, but we were still so full of joy. MACA has instilled in me a passion for loving others as Christ would love them. I am proud to say that I went to MACA. Each day spent there was a blessing. I cherish the memories I have from Mountain Area Christian Academy, and I would not trade them for the world.
