Beekeeper Paula Breen got started after a swarm of bees landed in her backyard. Now she supplies her neighbors with honey.

Gardener Lets the Bees Do the Work

By Jim Knowles San Leandro Times

A swarm of bees landed in Paula Breen's yard a few years ago and she did something about it. She got into the honey business. Her neighbors don't mind. They're some of her best customers, buying bottles of her Sweet Serendipity Honey. "It was serendipitous that the bees landed in our yard, so that's where I got the name," Breen says. Breen got into beekeeping by accident, but she doesn't recommend doing it that way. She says you should learn about it first. "There's a tremendous amount to learn to be successful," said the Broadmoor neighborhood resident. "What we did, I would not recommend. I would advise people to read a book or two, and get in touch with the Alameda County Beekeepers Association." But Breen learned as she went along with the help of her husband, who's an avid gardener. "He helps me with the bees and I help him with the gardening," said Breen, a case worker at the Kaiser Hospital in San Leandro. Bees produce a good amount of honey see BEES, page 4

Skywest Golf Course Closed Permanently

Course next to San Lorenzo closes earlier than expected

By Michael Singer San Leandro Times

Skywest Golf Course in Hayward was scheduled to close in September, but the coronavirus pandemic has brought on its demise a little sooner. Skywest is now closed for good. All golf courses were closed by the state pandemic shutdown in March. Golf courses were allowed to reopen in May but Skywest remained closed. The Hayward Area Recreation Department (HARD) runs Skywest Golf Course, along with Mission Hills Golf Course in Hayward. The golf course property is on Hayward Airport land, owned by the City of Hayward. HARD has been running the golf course since 1975. The golf course, which borders San Lorenzo, closed due to a downturn in golfing and the course losing about $1 million a year. "In analyzing the fiscal impacts, especially with the impact by Covid, it would not be a wise feasible decision to use resources for the golf course that is not going to be re-opened by HARD," said HARD spokesperson Jacqui Diaz. Skywest Golf Course sits on the northern part of Hayward Airport property. It's right next to a San Lorenzo neighborhood where residents enjoy the golf course's open space and its public path for walking. Neighbors began to wonder about the golf course, since it seemed abandoned. Diana Torres, whose backyard overlooks see GOLF, page 11

Face Masks Required In Public

By Michael Singer San Leandro Times

Going out? Make sure you take and wear a mask. As of last Friday, Californians are required to wear a face-covering in high-risk settings such as standing in line for the grocery store, driving with passengers, or waiting for the bus. Governor Gavin Newsom issued a more stringent order saying he was seeing too many people with faces uncovered in places where they should be wearing an appropriate mask. The new mandate came after the state recorded a single-day high of 4,411 new cases last Wednesday. This past Saturday, hospitalizations in California see MASKS, page 4

Protest Sets Up Stage on Mayor's Front Porch

By Jim Knowles San Leandro Times

A group of around 60 young people marched from City Hall to Mayor Pauline Cutter's house on Monday evening to protest the police killing of Steven Taylor and call for disbanding the police department. The group gathered on the street in front of the mayor's house and took turns speaking over a microphone through portable speakers carried on a wagon. Many of the speakers criticized the mayor for not paying enough attention to the death of Steven Taylor and not doing enough to reform the police department. Some of the speakers said that when they say defund the police, they mean to completely disband the police. The group was made up of mostly teens and 20s. One speaker in his early 30s said he was the old guy of the group. see PROTEST, page 10

Comment On Local Sea Level Rise Plan

Friday deadline to comment on Hayward Shoreline

The deadline for public comment has been extended to Friday, June 26, for public input on current plans for adapting the local shoreline to rising sea levels.

Sea levels are anticipated to continue rising in San Francisco Bay and globally, a climate-change phenomenon caused by the warming of oceans and increased melting of land-based ice such as glaciers and ice sheets.

The East Bay Regional Park District, Hayward Area Recreation District (HARD) and the City of Hayward are jointly seeking comment on strategies for adapting the Hayward shoreline to these rising levels.

Under consideration are strategies that would structurally alter the bay edge through a combination of nature-based designs, like gravel beaches and tidal-marsh restoration, and engineered strategies, like levee improvements and tide gates.

The nature-based approaches seek to enhance protective ecological features of the shoreline, while engineered solutions would aim to reduce risk to critical shoreline infrastructure, such as Hayward's wastewater treatment plant, the Hayward-San Mateo Bridge, the Bay Trail and the Hayward Shoreline Interpretive Center.

Fireworks Illegal in San Leandro, Police Remind Public

As the Fourth of July approaches, the San Leandro Police Department reminded residents that all fireworks are illegal in San Leandro.

The police department said it will increase its patrols at parks and all around the city as Independence Day approaches, in order to ensure a safe and enjoyable holiday for everyone.

All fireworks, even the "safe and sane" type are illegal to possess and use in San Leandro, said the police department in a press release. Violators are subject to the confiscation of their fireworks, citation or arrest.

Marina Park will be open during the day on July 4, but will close at 6 p.m. Patrons of the Monarch Bay golf course, El Torito and Horatio's restaurants, and the Marina Inn hotel will be allowed access to those businesses and restaurants.

The police department also reminded residents:

- Dogs in parks and public places are required to be on a leash no longer than 6 feet in length. Violators are subject to citation.

- Open alcoholic beverages are prohibited in public places and city parks. Violators are subject to citation or arrest.

- For those without designated picnic area reservations, single picnic tables at the Marina Park will be available on a first-come, first-served basis.

San Leandro police will partner with other local law enforcement agencies and the Alameda County Fire Department and work together on the enforcement of illegal fireworks violations, making San Leandro safe for everyone.

in an urban landscaped area where a lot of people have flowers in their gardens, Breen said. Bees use their honey for nutrition and to make wax.

Breen learned that you don't take any of the honey the first year to let the bees get a foothold. And then you take a certain amount, but not too much.

Breen has been stung a few times, as all beekeepers have, but she says you learn to sense how the bees are feeling.

"You do get stung from time to time, usually because I put my hand in the wrong place," she said. "If they fly out at you, it's sort of a warning. You can hear it to. You use all your senses – sight, hearing, smelling, feeling ... and tasting, that's the best part."

Each hive has its own distinct flavor of honey, Breen said.

"You can have two hives, side by side in the spring and they taste different. It's pretty remarkable," she said.

Unfortunately, the Alameda County Fair won't be held this year. That's a popular place for beekeepers to present their honey and enter the contests.

But Breen has kept her honey business going during the pandemic, after making adjustments. Most people know about Sweet Serendipity Honey by word of mouth.

She's no longer doing tastings at her house on Cambridge Avenue during the pandemic. People usually text her and she sanitizes the jars and puts them out to be picked up. For the elderly and other high risk people, she delivers to them.

It's work keeping the bee hives going. For one thing, there's a mite that can get into a hive and kill all the bees.

"You have to be on top of it or the whole colony will die," Breen said.

When a mite infestation gets bad enough there are ways to treat it. Breen uses an organic treatment, an acid in the right concentration to kill the mites, but not the bees.

Honey bees are not going extinct because they're essential to agriculture, Breen said. But some native bees and other pollinators don't have the benefit of people propping them up.

Breen said people can help the bees and other pollinators by planting flowers in their yards and not using chemicals. Insecticides used on some insects also kill the beneficial bugs.

Wasps, lady bugs and preying mantises are good because they are predators who keep down the population of other insects, she said. Sometimes the pest population explodes because someone has taken out the predator insects. And then they use more chemicals and it just makes it worse.

"Wasps do a lot of good in a garden," Breen said. "They eat a lot of the insects that are a problem."

Hayward Okays Pay Reductions

The Hayward City Council approved last week a third set of pay reductions and changes in compensation agreements with city workers to save money amid declines in city revenue stemming from the COVID-19 public health emergency.

The latest compensation changes were agreed to with workers represented by the Service Employees International Union (SEIU) Local 1021 and Hayward Association of Management Employees (HAME). The changes are projected to save up to $691,448 in wage and benefit costs in the 2021 fiscal year, which starts July 1.

Across all city operating funds, the changes could save nearly $1.2 million in fiscal year 2021.

The reductions approved include up to 55 hours of unpaid furloughs for workers represented by SEIU and 80 hours of furlough for HAME-represented management level employees.

Reductions are being sought in response to steep declines in key city revenues, notably sales tax dollars.

The general fund pays for basic municipal services, such as police, fire-fighting, 911 response, libraries, maintenance of public spaces, and administration of general governmental operations and programs. The general fund reserve helps get through cyclical fluctuations in expenses and revenues, meeting unanticipated needs and to draw on in times of emergency.

Revenue declines are expected to continue in fiscal year 2021. City Manager Kelly McAdoo sent two formal proposals to each city employee bargaining unit asking that all workers accept 80 hours of furloughs or forego scheduled July 1 pay increases.

On May 19, the council approved the first Covid-19 cost saving agreements—with Hayward firefighters, Fire Department managers and the city manager, saving a combined $487,215 in fiscal year 2021. The mayor and council members also voted to cut their own pay and expense budgets to save an additional $11,800.

On May 26, the council approved a second set of changes in compensation agreements and pay reductions with city department heads and other executives, police department captains and other employees not represented by organized bargaining units worth $273,000 in savings for fiscal year 2021.

Masks: People with no symptoms can still spread the disease reached a record high of 3,574.

A growing body of scientific research has shown that people with no or few symptoms of Covid-19 can still spread the disease. State health officials say wearing face coverings, combined with physical distancing and frequent hand washing will reduce the spread.

"Science shows that face coverings and masks work," said Newsom. "They are critical to keeping those who are around you safe, keeping businesses open, and restarting our economy."

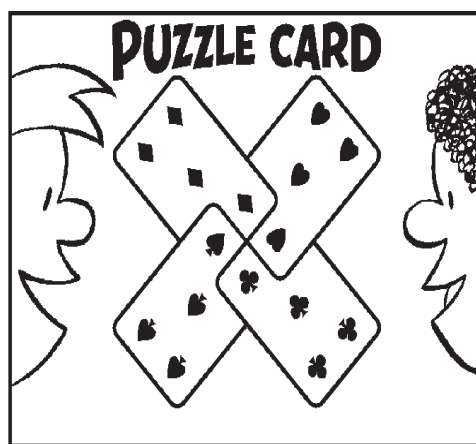

If you are caught ignoring the new rule, you may find yourself with a misdemeanor charge and possibly a fine.

Face coverings can be simple and homemade of cloth, fabric, or other soft or permeable material without holes, that covers the nose and mouth.

Alameda County Health Officer Dr. Erica Pan last week explained that a person engaged in walking, hiking, bicycling, running, and other physical activities is not required to wear a face-covering during the entire duration of their activity, but that person must carry a face covering that is easy to access so they can wear it once they are within 30 feet of other people.

GUEST COMMENTARY

Home Is Where the Action Is

While some have compared the cataclysmic effects of COVID-19 to a natural disaster, in reality, it is the opposite.

In the case of an earthquake, flood, hurricane or other disaster, dwellings are usually destroyed. The Coronavirus, on the other hand, while deeply impacting our nation's economy and our personal lives, has not physically affected our properties. What it has done, however, is shift our perceptions about how we think about "home."

Our residences have historically been the places to which we retreat when done with the activities of the day. Whether work, school, play or other pursuits, the perception has been that we do the important stuff somewhere "out there" and then head home when done.

COVID-19 has dumped that idea on its head. As an example, whereas working from homes used to be a privilege enjoyed by a select few, many companies have been forced to reevaluate the practice in light of data reversing previously held beliefs.

Sharon Koifman, COE at DistantJob.com, a remote work recruiting firm that sources globally, states, "Before the pandemic hit, remote working was more of a niche that worked really well for those who did it, but most larger corporations were afraid of disconnecting from their offices."

She reiterates, "However, since being ordered to shelter in place, many are finding it's much better than they feared, and managers are changing their tunes on the practice, including major companies."

In fact, her research reveals that productivity and profitability both increased with workers sheltered-in-place during the crisis.

Major companies such as Google, Nationwide Insurance, Morgan Stanley and Barclays have all announced plans to increase remote work. It's also good for the environment as less congested freeways mean fewer emissions hitting the atmosphere.

With workers not having to endure long commutes, the actual time spent working has increased. Companies are also discovering that the pool of exceptional talent expands dramatically if employees are not required to commute to a central location and can, in fact, live almost anywhere.

It is affecting real estate as well: as an example, our team currently has a member living in Oregon, another in Florida and four in the Philippines. Clients have also told us they love the convenience of online meetings.

While there will always be a need for "boots-on-the-ground," COVID-19 is metamorphosing the way we view our homes from "home is where our heart is" to "home is where the action is."

Divide Alstroemeria in Late Fall

By Buzz Bertolero
Special to the Times

I'm in love with Alstroemeria and now have four plants. I want to share them with a few friends, so when is the best time to divide them?

Alstroemeria is often called the Peruvian Lily, named after a Swede who collected seeds during a trip to South America.

He introduced them to Europe in the eighteenth-century, where they have been popular ever since as a cut flower. Today, the improved varieties are now being planted in Bay Area gardens and grown in containers.

Alstroemeria has a striking range of colors and a long flowering season from spring to late autumn; hence its popularity with today's gardeners. It grows in all kinds of soils as long as it's well-drained, so you need to be generous when amending our clay soil.

Typically, Alstroemeria flowers 10 to 15 weeks after being planted. They bloom well for three to four years, after which the stems begin to thin. This is when you should start to think about dividing the plants.

The plants are slow to reestablish themselves, so you don't separate them early. They should be divided in the late fall through April.

Handle the divisions carefully when transplanting as the roots or rhizomes are brittle.

The foliage should be cut back to six to eight inches above the ground about 10 days to two weeks before dividing. When you dig up the rhizomes, make sure you get all the roots and the growing points as the rhizomes grow twelve to fifteen inches deep. It would help if you got 20 to 25 useful rhizomes from a mature plant.

SUMMER HOME IMPROVEMENT

Home Interior Updates To Create a Wow Factor

Creating a wow factor to enhance your living spaces is easy to achieve, if you know where to focus attention.

For starters, here are some easy ideas to give you the kind of home you see and admire in ads and architectural magazines:

Ceiling-to-Floor Transformation

Totally transform a room top to bottom with decorative mouldings and millwork, starting with the ceiling. Add warmth with wood beams in a horizontal or criss-cross pattern, or simply accent the ceiling with stand-out crown mouldings.

Working your way down, frame windows with straight trim and rosettes in the corners. Throughout the room, add chair mouldings, mantels and floating shelves.

Remember, mouldings don't need to be plain, especially if you want to make an impact. So, replace any humdrum casing, crown, chair and base mouldings with elements that pop, such as those that feature leaves, grapes, vines or criss-cross ribbon patterns.

Consider the decorative millwork accents available from such outlets as Ornamental Moulding & Millwork, which are easy to install. New offerings dovetail nicely with the latest trends, and their craftsmanship means high-quality products that last. To learn more, visit Ornamental.com.

Step Up Stairways

Often a focal point of a home interior, a stairway system is a crucial area where homeowners can step up their game, and doing so doesn't have to be overwhelming.

It's what's on the inside that counts: When taking your home interiors from ordinary to extraordinary, it's all in the details.

"There's a definite trend underway of people mixing metals and woods on stair systems and throughout the home," says Kelly Miller of L.J. Smith Stair Systems. "Rather than completely take down an existing wood stair system, many people are turning to the easy DIY project of replacing wood balusters with iron balusters. Then they're leaving the wood hand rails and newel posts for a stylish, upgraded look."

Defined by unique designs and durability, L.J. Smith products—including wooden and ornamental iron balusters, stainless steel cable and tube infills, metal panels, newel posts, hand rails and accessories, can help you transform your stairs.

Breathe Easier, Save Money this Summer

For healthy air in a healthy home and lower cooling bills, get your HVAC system cleaned.

The U.S. Department of Energy estimates 25 to 40 percent of the energy used for heating or cooling a home is wasted. Contaminants in the heating and cooling system cause it to work harder, and shorten its life. Even with filters, the HVAC system still gets dirty through normal use.

A clean system doesn't have to work as hard to maintain the temperature you prefer, it uses less energy and you save money while breathing clean. So it pays to get your heating and cooling system cleaned regularly. More than just duct cleaning, this involves all the components the air stream touches throughout the system.

According to the National Air Duct Cleaners Association, proper cleaning of an entire system takes technical skill and attention to detail. That's why it's important to find a contractor specifically trained and experienced in this type of cleaning.

Association members possess general liability insurance, are trained and tested regularly, sign on to a code of ethics, and must clean and restore your heating and cooling system in accordance with NADCA standards.

To learn more, visit www.BreathingClean.com. To find a NADCA member nearby, visit nadca.com/en/prosearch/all. To see more money-saving ideas, watch the video at youtu.be/hlmvxVyzvQE.

Solar and Battery Storage Solutions Protect Against PG&E Black Outs

The market for energy storage is growing, and with good reason. With power disruptions driven by wildfires, storms, and wind gusts across California, homeowners have turned to new solutions to keep the lights on.

At the center of the upswing in interest, solar power continues to rank highly with energy-conscious homeowners. However, as residents in the East Bay have discovered through Public Safety Power Shutoffs in 2019, their current photovoltaic (PV) solar systems do not power their homes during utility outages, primarily because safety shut-off protocols are designed into the systems to protect utility workers. This has boosted the appeal of battery-based energy storage and software systems that can harness the sunlight and store it for later use.

The Public Safety Power Shutoffs were put in place to mitigate wildfire risks that could be caused by sparking power transmission lines when high winds and dry conditions create dangerous circumstances.

The state of California recently earmarked $675 million under a new round of its Self Generation Incentive Program (SGIP), one of the first state-level incentives for battery energy storage in the country.

The program—which now has a cumulative historic value of over $1 billion—has helped California lead the nation in residential energy storage. The SGIP Equity Resilience incentive program could essentially offset the entire cost of a battery storage system by providing up to $1/watt of backup power for qualified homeowners.

This program has helped backup generator giant Generac move into the clean energy arena with its PWRcell Storage System for resilience to power outages and a way to significantly lower energy bills by avoiding the utility company's peak rates.

Generac is the only company that offers both battery storage systems and whole home backup generators that let homeowners make the best decision for their specific needs.

The PWRcell storage system is an all-in-one platform that offers 8 kilowatts of continuous power and a 10 kW surge capacity to start heavy loads such as 2-ton air conditioners and well pumps, but what sets this apart from other options is its ability to scale up to 17.1 kW of usable capacity.

The system is equipped with an energy monitoring technology called PWRview, which offers smart device linkage to track household energy consumption, monitor battery usage and track energy spending and savings.

Such residential clean energy solutions bring smart home energy storage and management into the mainstream for homeowners, cutting energy costs and providing protection from electric utility disruptions. As a result, people have more options when deciding where to get their power.

Protest: Neighbors come out of their houses to watch protest

They later moved from the street into Cutter's front yard. Speakers took the microphone and spoke from Cutter's front porch.

Somebody knocked at her door but Cutter wasn't home.

"I'm afraid to go to the store because of what happened to Steven Taylor," said one speaker.

"We have $42 million going to the police. Why don't we have a youth center in San Leandro?" asked another, referring to the police department's annual budget.

Mayor Cutter and the rest of the City Council have since requested that the state attorney general investigate the shooting, in addition to the investigation by the police department and district attorney's office.

Cutter said she's glad people can express themselves, but it should be on public property, not on her front porch.

Cutter said her "Black Lives Matter" sign was spray painted, and a couple of small plants in her yard were stepped on and broken, though Cutter said that was probably accidental.

"I'm glad they got to say their piece but I don't know about coming up on my porch," Cutter said the following day. "If we're going to work together, both groups need to go by the rules and protocols so that everybody is in a safe space."

Kurt Efraim Nielsen

April 29, 1937 – May 12, 2020

Kurt was born the son of immigrants from Denmark and Sweden, Ejnar and Karin Nielsen, on April 29, 1937. Kurt, and his brother Ken, grew up on a farm in New York. Kurt would get up at 5 AM every day, a lifelong habit, to help with the crops and animals. Kurt's father died at the age of 44, when Kurt was just 16, and the family farm was sold.

Kurt went to the New York State Teachers College, now State University of New York in Albany, and graduated with an MS in Physics. While in Albany, Kurt met and fell in love with Ruth. "From the moment we met, I knew you were the one I would love forever." They were married on September 5, 1959. Kurt enrolled in the University of Wisconsin, in Madison, for a Ph.D. in Physics. There he worked with Professor Raymond Herb on accelerators and trying to find quarks for his Graduate Thesis. While there, Kurt and Ruth had a son David and a daughter Cheryl.

Upon graduation, Kurt moved his family to California. This was the start of Kurt's long and respected career in Pulsed Power. For the next 28 years Kurt worked at Physics International (PI) and Pulse Sciences Inc. (PSI). Kurt then worked for the Los Alamos National Laboratory (LANL) in New Mexico. At LANL, Kurt joined the Dual-Axis Radiographic Hydrodynamic Test (DARHT) facility. DARHT uses two axes to produce the world's most intense X-rays for radiographic research. Kurt led the team that redesigned Axis 2, addressing multiple problems. DARHT continues to be the envy of the international community.

There is an old saying, "Choose a job you love, and you will never have to work a day in your life." Kurt found that job. "Kurt was one of the most well-known, and well-liked members of the global Pulsed Power community. Kurt was at home in the lab running experiments, in the control room checking the performance of the accelerator, or in his office analyzing data." Kurt published and peer reviewed for the American Physical Society and IEEE. Kurt was still working at LANL for 22 years, and in Pulsed Power for 50 years, when he passed away.

Kurt and Ruth were married for 60 years in September 2019. Kurt was a great Dad, who loved doing things with his family. He loved travel, nature, and hiking. Over the years, Kurt took his family camping at many State and National Parks. Frequent destinations included Yosemite, Death Valley, the California Coast, and the Redwood Forests.

Kurt passed away on May 12, 2020, due to heart failure. Kurt is survived by his wife Ruth, his children David and Cheryl, and his brother Ken. We are comforted by knowing that he is now at home with God. Kurt was laid to rest June 6, 2020 in Los Alamos, NM. A Remembrance Service will be held at a later date.

Golf: San Lorenzo neighborhood dreads future of golf course land the golf course, says the greens started turning brown and weeds began popping up in the sand traps.

"Skywest was something special to those of us in San Lorenzo," Torres said. "We know it's in Hayward but it's actually a huge part of our community and it is a huge loss. There are so many families that live along the border that have Skywest as their backyard view, so to see it deteriorate is difficult to accept."

Torres and her neighbors along Via Sarita say they enjoy the quiet surroundings and the occasional flock of geese and can't understand why the course can't be maintained until it changes hands.

Neighbors took to social media posting on the "San Lorenzo Community," and "Save Open Space SOS Skywest Golf Course" Facebook pages to share information during this transition period. Torres, who is also a realtor in San Lorenzo, notes that the closure of Skywest will likely affect home prices in the area.

What will happen to the golf course property is still being decided.

"We have been in conversation with the City of Hayward for the past few months," Diaz says. "The City will be taking the lead on the master planning of the entire site, and HARD is encouraged that they will want to include us as part of their planning process and hope to include some trails. As you may be aware, this area is very much linked to the airport and their need to expand to meet safety regulations, so they are also at the table."

The City of Hayward is expected to include a public outreach portion to involve residents on any future planning for the Skywest property.

HARD says it is prepared to continue to provide basic weed abatement and maintain the ponds with water until its contract with the City of Hayward is up at the end of September. Funding for irrigating the greens and fairways was not included in HARD's draft budget, only weed abatement, and pond filling.

Compounding the closure at Skywest was COVID-19 shelter-in-place orders, which significantly impacted many facilities and operations managed by HARD, Diaz said. While everyone waited for outdoor activity restrictions to lift, Diaz says HARD focused its efforts on operations at Mission Hills Golf Course, off Industrial Parkway.

HARD opened Mission Hills once the county gave the green light that golf could open but only after meeting new physical distancing guidelines.

Failure to Follow the Rules

Editor:

Governor Newsom on June 18 ordered that everyone in California should wear a face covering when out in public.

My wife and I went down to Marina Park on the evening of June 18 and had to leave due to the anxiety we felt when over 50 percent of the adults were not wearing masks. There were many people very close to each other walking, talking, passing each other, conversing and clearly not following any social distancing rules.

The City of San Leandro and the police department have a responsibility to try and enforce the governor's order by making at least a minimal effort to tell people in a public park that they have to wear a mask when other people are close to them.

Eliminating the Police?

Editor:

Have you heard what the city council is proposing?

At their last meeting they voted to defund the police department of a large sum of money. They also mention the intention to eliminate the police department. Have you ever heard of a more irresponsible action, reaction, or intention?

I am trying to let them know my feelings regarding protecting law-abiding, honest citizens like you and me. I have been the victim of crime, and the police are who I call, and they respond quickly and efficiently.

If there is a problem, they need to deal with the problem, not knee jerk into overall reactions that are counter-productive.

If a member of the council did something wrong, would it be right to eliminate or attack the other members of the council? Of course not.

We have laws and we need law enforcement people to protect us. Please respond to these actions by the council.

Solving San Leandro's Problems

Editor:

Covid-19 response, Black Lives Matter, looting that brought national scrutiny, lasting police reform, worst economy in 100 years, record unemployment and record homelessness, $20 million in cuts to our city budget, opioid crisis, lack of housing...

Now, let's see a show of hands that thinks kindness is going to solve a single one of San Leandro's problems. Anybody?

Masks: Face masks and distancing are effective

"My face-covering protects you and your face covering protects me," Dr. Pan said.

There are exceptions. Children 2 years old or younger should not wear a face covering. Someone with medical, mental health or developmental disability that prevents wearing a face covering is not required to wear a mask. The same goes for people who are hearing impaired or you can take your mask off if they need to see your mouth to communicate.

One relatively new exception to the face-covering rule is how to manage a mask while eating. Newsom's instructions are that if you are seated at a restaurant or other establishment that offers food or beverage service, you don't have to wear a mask when you are eating or drinking, if you can keep at least six feet away from others not in your household.

State health officials say it's a good idea to wash your cloth face-covering frequently, ideally after each use, or at least daily. Have a bag or bin to keep cloth face coverings in until they can be laundered with detergent and hot water and dried on a hot cycle. If you must re-wear your cloth face covering before washing, wash your hands immediately after putting it back on and avoid touching your face.

It did change. We were going to go on a cruise but we can't now because my wife is in school studying to be a nurse. So we're just going to take it day to day and do what we're allowed. Maybe a stay vacation. We went to Folsom Lake last weekend. Up there the restaurants are open.

Twitter Post: Sewage at Marina; Evidence Apparently Gone Out to Sea

City Council candidate Bryan Azevedo posted on social media about a sewage spill at the San Leandro Marina on Sunday but the public works department found no overflow from its lines.

The City of San Leandro Public Works Department confirmed no overflow, said city spokesman Paul Sanftner. They also talked to people around the marina who said they didn't know of an overflow.

If there was any sewage, there was no indication of it later.

Staff from the Public Works department went to the marina and only found what is called bay foam, which occurs when seawater is agitated, especially when there is dissolved organic matter such as algae.

There was no sign of sewage or odor, said Sanftner.

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of: Barry Lamont Thompson.

A Petition for Probate has been filed by Michael Herrera, Sr. in the Superior Court of California, County of Alameda. The Petition for Probate requests that Michael Herrera, Sr. be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

The Petition requests the decedent's will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

The PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on July 14, 2020, 2:00 p.m., Dept. 201, at 2120 Martin Luther King Jr. Way, Berkeley, CA 94704.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code. Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

Public Notice

The mission of DTSC is to protect California's people and environment from harmful effects of toxic substances by restoring contaminated resources, enforcing hazardous waste laws, reducing hazardous waste generation, and encouraging the manufacture of chemically safer products.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC COMMENT PERIOD for DRAFT RESPONSE PLAN Former Caterpillar Manufacturing 899 Alvarado St, San Leandro, California 94577

The California State Department of Toxic Substances Control (DTSC) invites public comment on the draft Response Plan for Former Caterpillar Manufacturing in San Leandro California (Site). The draft Response Plan proposes cleanup for chemicals of concern (COCs) identified. Currently, the Site is a combination of a vacant lot, house and a warehouse in a residential mixed use, light industrial, and transit zoned area.

The purpose of the Response Plan is to comply with the requirements of the DTSC's California Land Reuse and Revitalization Act (CLRRA). COCs have been found in amounts above levels protective of human health under residential and/or commercial land use scenarios. The COCs found in soil vapor are Chloroform, tetrachloroethene (PCE), Trichloroethene (TCE), 1,3 Butadiene, and Benzene.

If the plan is approved, the proposed future Site development would consist of a mixed-use development as an apartment building with first floor and basement parking garage. Long term land use controls recommend including restricting the use of groundwater and preventing future single family residential construction, and to ensure hardscape areas are maintained over impacted soil. Most of the property will be dug out for the parking garage and the rest of the property will be landscaped. Also, a sub slab vapor collection, venting system and vapor barrier under the buildings will be installed. The recommended CEQA approach is the preparation of an Addendum to the San Leandro General Plan Update to supplement the project description.

DTSC encourages public participation in the decision-making process and invites the public to review and comment on the draft Response Plan. Before making a final determination on the draft Response Plan, DTSC will review and respond in writing to all public comments. We are holding a public comment period from June 26, 2020 to July 31, 2020. Written comments must be postmarked or emailed by July 31, 2020 and sent to: Tenaya Tuteur, DTSC Project Manager, 8800 Cal Center Dr., Sacramento, CA 95826, Tenaya.Tuteur@dtsc.ca.gov.
