

IR35 Employment Status - Calculator

There has been a great deal of publicity recently regarding the employment status of people being contracted by the Public Sector, Private Companies and Employment Agencies. With recent cases, such as Uber, there would appear to be some confusion as to where people stand with regard to taxation.

HMRC have recently updated their website to include a calculator to work out whether payment for services provided should be taxable or non-taxable. You can find the calculator by entering the following web address into your web browser:
