SAN LORENZO STUDENTS JOIN INTERNATIONAL STUDENT WALKOUT

Several hundred Arroyo High School students gathered in the quad at lunchtime on Friday to call attention to climate change, part of an international student walkout that day that took place in more than 100 countries. Student organizers got on a bullhorn to call everybody to the outdoor stage where four students took turns speaking to the crowd, reminding them that the adults of the world haven't cut emissions so students must take the reins for the sake of their future. "California is the biggest state, so it will make a substantial difference if we get things started right here," said student James Molina. At the end of the speeches, Molina said that this isn't a one-and-done. It's something that has to be followed up on. About the need to control emissions for the future of the planet.

Feds Revoke Funding for Urban Shield

By Amy Sylvestri CASTRO VÁLLEY FORUM

The U.S. Department of Homeland Security revoked a $5.5-million public safety grant to Alameda County for the Urban Shield exercise after the Alameda County Board of Supervisors' made major changes to the regional emergency preparedness event.

Those changes shifted the focus of the training from anti-terrorism and SWAT exercises to community emergency preparedness in response to criticism that Urban Shield promoted the militarization of local police departments.

The board voted 3-2 on Tuesday to make changes to the program despite the threat of losing the money. Supervisors Wilma Chan, Kieth Carson, and Richard Valle voted for the changes while Supervisors Nate Miley and Scott Haggerty dissented.

"I am not going to take any action to jeopardize the funding," said Miley at last Tuesday's board meeting.

Alameda County Sheriff Greg Ahern had warned that the elimination of anti-terror exercises would violate the county's current agreement with the U.S. Dept. of Homeland Security and jeopardize the grant.

Ahern met with the Bay Area Urban Areas Security Initiative (UASI) on Thursday and, as he predicted, they took back the funding which ended Urban Shield. see SHIELD on page 5

A roast Leg of Lamb is budget-friendly and can feed a crowd.

The Staple of Spring Roasts culinary bridge across 1 teaspoon ginger spice cultures, lamb is a com- 1 teaspoon salt cooking that dates back to an- 1 (4- to 5-pound) leg of lamb cient times and is rooted in a number of religious traditions.

It is the most popular meat consumed worldwide, but in this country it still ranks below beef, pork and poultry.

Lamb is simple to cook. One way to prepare leg of lamb is by sprinkling the outside with granulated garlic, black pepper, leaf thyme and a little rosemary; another way is with a Dijon mustard sauce. The lamb is baked at about 350°F for 30 minutes to the pound.

Probably the worst thing people do to lamb is overcook it or to smother it in mint jelly.

Lamb should not be cooked past an internal temperature of 150°F. And mint jelly just overpowers the taste of the meat. If you must have mint, try a mint-raspberry glaze that's much lighter than mint jelly.

Healthwise, lamb contains very little marbling, so the fat can easily be trimmed. It has about the same number of calories as beef and it is high in B vitamins, niacin, zinc and iron.

MARINATED LEG OF LAMB

2/3 cup olive oil 1/3 cup wine vinegar 1 medium onion, sliced

2 cloves garlic, slivered

mon staple of spring 1/4 teaspoon black pepper

In bowl, combine oil, vinegar, onion, garlic, ginger, salt and pepper and mix well. Pour over lamb in shallow dish and refrigerate 6 hours or overnight, turning lamb occasionally. Drain lamb, reserving marinade, and place meat on rack in shallow roasting pan.

Roast at 325°F for about 2-1/2 hours or until done as desired, basting frequently with marinade. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

LAMB SHANKS WITH LENTILS

pound dried lentils, rinsed 2 medium carrots, chopped

- onion, chopped
- 4 sprigs thyme or 1 teaspoon
- dried thyme 1 tablespoon minced garlic
- 2 bay leaves
- bottle red win
- 4 lamb shanks
- Salt and pepper to taste

Heat oven to 400°F. Combine first 7 ingredients in roasting pan or casserole and stir; bring to a boil on top of stove, then nestle lamb shanks among lentils, cover pan and put in oven. Lower heat to 350°F and let cook, undisturbed, for about an hour. Uncover and stir lentils gently; season with salt and pepper. Recover and cook about an hour more, until lentils are very tender and meat begins to pull away from bone. Don't worry about overcooking the lentils. When lamb is tender, uncover pan, raise heat to 400°F and cook for another 15 minutes, just to brown top of shanks a bit. Makes 4 servings.

LAMB CHOPS WITH ROSEMARY

4 (1-1/2 inch thick) lamb chops 1-1/2 tablespoons olive oil 1 tablespoon minced rose-

- mary leaves
- teaspoons minced parsley 1/4 cup red wine
- 3 tablespoons butter

Salt and freshly ground pepper Brown chops in hot oil in large skillet. Turn heat to low and cook to desired doneness, about 7 minutes on each side any meat bits that are sticking. for medium. Remove to warm platter.

Add rosemary, parsley and wine to skillet, heat to boiling and reduce slightly. Add butter and stir in. Return lamb to pan and coat with sauce. Season to taste with salt and pepper and serve at once. Makes 4 servings.

1/2 pound ground lamb

1/4 teaspoon paprika Salt and freshly ground pepper 2 tablespoons goat cheese 1 tablespoon butter Yogurt Sauce

pita bread, toasted and split in half, optional

Mix together lamb, cumin and paprika. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Form mixture into 2 large, flat patties. Place 1 tablespoon goat cheese in center of each. Fold each over to form semicircle, then shape into ovals that completely cover cheese.

Melt butter in skillet over medium-high heat. Add burgers and cook, about 5 minutes per side, until completely cooked through. Meanwhile, prepare Yogurt Sauce. Serve burgers plain or place each in 1/2 or toasted pita bread. Spoon in sauce to taste. Serves 2.

For the Yogurt Sauce, combine 1/2 cup plain yogurt with 2 tablespoons minced green onions, a few drops of Tabasco, salt and ground white pepper. Stir to blend. Makes 2 servings.

LAMB STEW WITH DILL

2 pounds boneless lamb from shoulder or breast, cut into roughly 1-1/2 inch chunks 8 shallot, peeled

12 very small new potatoes, washed

Salt and pepper 2 carrots, diced

1 cup frozen green peas

8 scallions, trimmed and cut into 2-inch sections 1/2 cup snipped dill leaves (or more, to taste) Lemon wedges

Put lamb in a broad skillet over high heat; let sear, undisturbed, about 2 minutes, or until underside is nicely browned. Stir and add shallots and potatoes. Cook a couple of minutes longer, and add salt and pepper and a cup of water. Stir, scraping bottom if necessary to loosen

Turn heat to low, cover and simmer about 45 minutes, stirring once or twice.

Uncover and add carrots; stir once, re-cover and let simmer about 15 minutes more, or until lamb and potatoes are tender.

Uncover, add peas and scallions. Raise heat to boil away excess liquid. Taste and adjust seasoning.

Serve garnished with dill and accompanied by lemon wedges. Makes 4 servings.

CV Empty-Nester Redefines the Word 'Mom' with Dog Training

Laurie Berberian of Castro Valley sent her youngest child to college last fall. In spite of full time work as a school psychologist and more time to spend with her husband — she found herself with extra time on her hands.

She began to look into the complex world of dog shows and realized that she could be an effective owner and handler of a show dog. Berberian found a reputable breeder of show dogs and purchased Evie. The question is, "What to do with all that money?"

Nellie Bowles of The New York Times writes, "They want cars. They want to open new restaurants. They want to throw bigger parties. And they want houses.'

Companies around the Bay Area are already planning to capitalize on the massive influx of newly minted wealth. San Francisco bike shops are gearing up their inventory of electric employees of San Francisco bicycles, many boasting prices of $7,000 and more.

Party and private entertainment companies are preparing for the onslaught of celebratory gigs. Ice sculptors are sharpening their tools to carve ice chairs with company logos, full-sized cars and anything

Mortgage Rates Drop Further

The 30-year fixed-rate mortgage dropped to 4.31 percent last week, according to Freddie Mac's weekly survey

"At 4.31 percent, the average 30-year fixed mortgage rate is at its lowest since February of last year," said Sam Khater, Freddie Mac's chief economist. "While these low rates will certainly get the attention of prospective homebuyers, the supply of homes for sale remains stubbornly low."

A year ago at this time, the 30-year fixed averaged 4.44 percent.

Fifteen-year home loans averaged 3.76 percent, down from 3.83 percent.

Five-year hybrid adjustable-rate mortgages (ARMs) averaged 3.84 percent, down from 3.87 percent.

hat do Airbnb, Lyft, else someone with more money than they know what to do with might imagine.

With San Francisco housing prices already amongst the highest on the planet, it is hard values.

With minimal new construction to meet demand, many believe existing home values will soar, prompting numerous San Francisco homeowners to pull their homes off the market, hoping to capitalize once the IPO windfalls hit the street.

When tech firms such as Facebook and Google went public, home prices went up around the entire Bay Area. It is no secret, however, that tech firms want to live in the City and get as close to their companies as possible.

It is also a fact that the City does not have enough inventory to meet demand, so cities close are hoping to benefit as well.

Oakland has profited tremendously from San Francisco's housing woes. From a low average home price of $286,000 in 2009, prices soared to a peak of $984,000 in 2018, a jump of 344%.

In contrast, for the same period, San Leandro average prices increased 217%, San Lorenzo saw a bit larger increase at 231% while Castro Valley lagged behind at 191%.*

While San Francisco will be affected the most by the impending IPOs, Central County homeowners are hopeful that the trickle-down effect will enhance their values as well. It is hard to imagine that, while the rest of the state is seeing decreasing prices, we may still be in for a boost in 2019. *Data from Trendgraphix Elaine Chang Jue went home to be with her Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ, on February 26, 2019. Elaine peacefully passed at the age of 82 at her home in Castro Valley, after her illness with kidney disease.

Born September 9, 1936, in San Francisco to David and Mary Chang, Elaine was a beautiful and caring individual who touched the lives of all who knew her. Elaine was the beloved wife and best friend of Daniel Jue since 1962 and raised two loving children.

Dan and Elaine enjoyed traveling all over the world serving as missionaries in Argentina, China, Laos, and other countries. Elaine was very involved in the churches she attended, and in other ministries like Bible Study Fellowship (BSF).

Elaine is survived by her husband, Daniel / her son and his wife, Brian and Arlene / her son-in-law, Kevin / and her grandchildren, Lauren, Daniel, Kayla, Micah, Samantha, and Brandon. She is preceded in death by her daughter, Sharon.

A Celebration-of-Life service will be held for Elaine at Castro Valley First Baptist Church on Saturday, March 23 at 11am.

Elizabeth "Betty" Souza

Mensilen Kook, naten Kook isten Kook, naten Kook nate

October 6, 1921 - March 11, 2019 Resident of Castro Valley

Imelda Elizabeth "Betty" Kamena was born in Oakland, CA on October 6, 1921. She passed away in her sleep on the morning of March 11, 2019. Betty was a long time resident of San Lorenzo, where she and her husband, Joe Souza, raised 4 children. In 2003, Betty moved to Castro Valley to live with family, and eventually moved in 2013 to Eden Villa senior residence living community (now the Villa at Castro Valley).

Betty was met in heaven by her husband, Joe, daughter JoeAnn, son John, daughter Kathy, and granddaughters Claudia and Dawna. She is survived by her son, Mike Souza and his wife Jan of San Leandro, her son-in-law, Rick Doerr and his wife Babs (Suzanne) of Castro Valley, 9 grandchildren and dozens of great and greatgreat-grandchildren.

Betty lived a long, healthy, adventure-filled life. She and her husband traveled extensively, their favorite destination being the Hawaiian Islands. Betty continued to travel after Joe's passing and frequented Disneyland more times than anyone can recall! Her love of the theme park was captured permanently on her 75th birthday, when she had Mickey Mouse tattooed on her arm.

Betty's love of music continued right up until she left this life. In her younger years, Betty taught piano and sang in church choirs. Many San Leandro and San Lorenzo residents remember Betty best as the singer of "Elvira" and "Bill Bailey" with the banjo band at Porky's Pizza Palace every Thursday night, taking her final curtain call on February 28th of this year.

Services will be held Thurs., March 21 at Santos-Robinson Mortuary in San Leandro, viewing from 4 p.m. - 8 p.m., with vigil service at 7 p.m. Funeral Mass to be held Fri., March 22 at 9:30 a.m. at Transfiguration Catholic Church in Castro Valley, to be followed immediately by burial procession to Lone Tree Cemetery in Hayward. In addition, there will be a celebration of life Thurs., March 28 at Porky's Pizza Palace in San Leandro. Arrangements taken care of by Santos-Robinson Mortuary, 510-483-0123.

Lillian "Lil" Wright January 17, 1926 - March 12, 2019

Lillian (Delcré) Wright, age 93, passed away in her Castro Valley home of 67 years surrounded by her immediate family.

Lillian was born on January 17, 1926 to Mary and Henry Delcré and raised in Oakland as part of a large Italian immigrant family. After living for a short time in Boston's Italian North End, she returned to the Bay Area where she graduated from Oakland Tech High School. Lillian fell in love with Loren Wright after they met at the Fratellanza Club in Oakland. Following their marriage in 1951, they purchased a home in Castro Valley where Lillian and Loren lovingly raised their three children: Loren, Linda and Renée,

She worked for the Food Services Department of the Oakland Unified Public School District for many years. Lillian had a wonderful sense of humor, especially when placing the "Italian curse" on any team that opposed her beloved Golden State Warriors. In addition to her passion for the Warriors, she loved to garden, paint, sew, and create great Italian cuisine. She could also be found enjoying excessive amounts of Peets Coffee while reading the San Francisco Chronicle. A glass of moscato seemed to regularly accompany her delicious pasta dinners. As recently as last year, Lil took the dare to drink vodka-honey shots with her "grandkids."

Linda compass sionately and patiently cared for Lillian on a daily basis over the past decade, allowing Lillian to enjoy her senior years to the utmost.

Her gracious and compassionate demeanor was a part of her everyday makeup, and that is why, Lil, your family and friends will miss you terribly and always cherish the enjoyment of simply being around you.

In addition to her three children, Lillian leaves behind Claire Wright (daughter-in-law), Dean Chapman (son-in-law), and "adopted" grandkids, Evan, Brita, Spencer and Rachel.

A gathering in Lil's honor will be held in the near future. In Lillian's memory, donations may be made to: Hope Hospice, Inc., 6377 Clark Avenue, Suite 101, Dublin, CA 94568

The Importance of Children Learning from their Mistakes Editor:

I currently have on the wall in my classroom a sign that reads: (F)irst (A)ttempt (I)n (L)earning This reminds students and parents alike that everyone fails and with such failures come valuable lessons. As a veteran teacher, I am concerned that some parents don't share this belief and am encountering more and more such parents. As a middle school teacher, I feel it is important to be clear about rules and consistent with consequences.

Students need (and want) these guidelines. When mistakes are made and no consequences are issued, the student learns a different lesson. Perhaps parents feel that by defending their child's poor choices, they are showing love/support. When this happens, however, the child misses out on a wonderful (& "affordable") learning opportunity. I am proud to say that here at Creekside most students exhibit

R.O.A.R. behavior (Respect Ownership Acceptance Responsibility). Encourage your children to take ownership of their choices, both good and bad, so as to learn from them. In doing so, it will send them into adulthood with the necessary tools to meet with success and better equip to deal with the inevitable failures.

-Ms. Gail Swartzendruber, English/History Creekside Middle School

Jewish Community Stands with their Muslim Friends Editor:

The Tri-Valley Cultural Jewish Community extends love to - and stands with — our Muslim friends at this time of grief and mourning in the wake of the terrorist attacks on New Zealand mosques.

No matter how far away a tragedy like this happens, we are all one human body, and this injury has been inflicted on us all. The wound is fresh now, and scars will remain, but we seek to help with treatment.

Not only in healing but in continuing to campaign against hate and violence and show love to all.

Reach out to Muslim friends and neighbors now and show them they have your support. And consider donating to one of the organizations designed to help the families of the victims of this terrorism.

A body that hurts itself is one that does not function for long. A body in harmony is healthy. Caring for others is to care for oneself.

This is how we, humanity, survive. -Scott Pepper, Board of Directors, Tri-Valley Cultural Jews

Says Rodeo Critic Should 'Quit with the Misleading Letters' Editor:

In response to the opinion of Eric Mills who is still at it in the never-ending letter writing career to shut down the Rowell Ranch Rodeo. Didn't he see the message, "No Hate in Castro Valley?

The Rowell Ranch Rodeo is an upstanding event with years of experience in handling and caring for animals. I have attended the rodeo for many years, and the Cowboy Experience. I have asked questions of the cowboys and officials with the event.

It is clear that only the best care is given to all livestock as well as concern for the safety of the children. Maybe Eric should talk to the rodeo and get his information from those who know, and quit with the misleading letters and comments.

Mr. Mills is just another bully in a long line of bullies who feel it is their business to tell others what to do, when to do it, and how to do it.

He should really use his energy to help the homeless and the hungry in the Bay Area. Long Live Cowboys! -Marjorie Engelage, Castro Valley

Calls on Supervisors to Ban More Rodeo Activities

Editor:

I attended and spoke at the Jan. 15 Alameda County Board of Supervisors' meeting. No. 3 on the Agenda was a proposal to ban several rodeo events.

Supervisor Chan proposed to ban "Mutton Busting" based on presentations as well as ASPCA's website condemning all "children's rodeo events such as goat tying, calf riding and sheep riding ("mutton busting"), which do not promote humane care and respect for animals.'

Voting was 4-1 to ban "Mutton Busting," Mr. Haggerty the only "no." Had they read the website further, "Wild Cow Milking" and electric prods should be included in the ban: ASPCA also condemns "all rodeo events that involve cruel, painful, stressful and potentially harmful treatment of animals, not only in performance but also in handling, transport and prodding to perform.'

The Board previously received numerous letters from organizations including Alameda County Veterinary Medical Association and the East Bay SPCA and many concerned citizens. Supervisors Miley and Haggerty indicated their view that they do not equate the sentient qualities and ability to feel pain of ranch animals with that of companion animals.

Video evidence including forcefully yanking a calf's head backwards several times, the animal obviously in fear and pain, left them saying they were not clear these animals were feeling anything; judging animal advocates as having no ranch experience. (Speaking for myself, the opposite is true.)

To these two, please research, spend time at an animal sanctuary, read the stance of countless DVM's, Pope Francis, writings of St. Francis of Assisi, and much other material available.

Thankfully, Mr. Miley voted to ban "Mutton Busting" based on the ASPCA website. Please add "Wild Cow Milking" and electric prods to that ban!

-Marcy Schantz, Castro Valley

Nomorobo uses a "simultaneous ring" service that detects and blocks robocalls on a black list of known offender numbers. It isn't 100 percent foolproof, but it is an extra layer of protection. To sign up or see if Nomorobo works with your phone service provider, visit Nomorobo.com.

Cell Phones Tools

To stop unwanted robocalls and texts to your cell phone, ask your carrier about caller ID options that help identify, filter or prevent callers that aren't legitimate.

For example, AT&T provides their subscribers a free app called "AT&T Call Protect" that has automatic fraud-blocking and suspected spam-warnings, and you can manually block unwanted calls.

Starting this month, Verizon is offering free spam alerting and call blocking tools to their users. T-Mobile offers free "Scam ID" and "Scam Block" to combat robocalls and spam. And Sprint customers can sign up for its "Premium Caller ID" service for $2.99 per month to guard against robocalls and caller ID spoofers.

Call Blocking Apps

Another way to stop nuisance robocalls on your smartphone is with call blocking apps. These can identify who is calling you and block unwanted calls that show up on a crowd-sourced spam and robocaller lists.

Some top call blocking app for iPhones and Androids include Nomorobo (Nomorobo.com), Hiya Caller ID and Spam Blocker (Hiya.com) and Truecaller (Truecaller.com).

Nomorobo cost $2 per month, while Truecaller and Hiya apps are free to use, but offer upgraded services for $2 and $3 per month. Spam Proof Phones

There are also phones you can buy, like the Samsung Galaxy S, Samsung Note, or Google Pixel phone that have built-in spam and robocall protection in place.

Samsung's Smart Call feature flags calls it suspects are spam, while Google Pixel phones have built-in spam call protection. With this feature, users with Caller ID enabled will get a warning if a suspected spam call or robocall is received.
