Personal choice and individual decision making are always emphasized.

THE PROGRAM...

The program offers a variety of activities designed to enhance essential life skills and satisfy the interest of the group. We offer recreational, socialization, and training activities for each person based on the individual's capabilities and expressed interest.

Socialization will be accomplished and encouraged by promoting interactions between consumers, the staff, community service providers, volunteers, and the public. Staff engages consumers in discussions of topics of interest, the weather, news, and sports, encouraging individuals to think about the world outside the home and their program.

This service also includes an academic setting which allows consumers to acquire skills to increase language, communication skills, hand-eye coordination and occupational therapy techniques.

WHAT WE DO...

Staff will explore opportunities to provide continuing education to our consumers. Institutions in the community and other providers will be approached to determine any course or services available to our consumers.

The individuals that are ineligible for traditional vocational services are expected participate in vocational support and opportunities for work in the community through job shadowing and volunteering.

Connections for vocational opportunities are established through the agency community outreach program.
