April 3, 2010 - Half Day Workshop 1-4 PM. Donation.

Back by popular demand, Joshua Berkowitz, local student and professional psychic, returns to the Center for New Knowledge for a day of Kabbalistic training. Learn the nature of Kabbalistic energy and thought and how this ancient system was used to pattern the modern Tarot. Learn how to use Kabbalistic meditation to study the esoteric meanings of the Tarot cards and even conduct a reading on your own. This workshop is aimed at developing an understanding of spiritual divinatory practices and will be taught on two Saturdays, one full day and a second half day. The half day will be focused on reading techniques.

Josh is a student at UMass whose academic work has been focused on ancient, esoteric ways of knowing and he has read many texts in their original languages, e.g., Hebrew, Aramaic, and Latin. Josh teaches spiritual philosophy and technique regularly in the Valley, and offers an abundance of services to the community.
