Annual San Leandro Dahlia Show Goes Virtual

This year's dahlia show will be virtual with hundreds of beautiful flowers on display on your computer screen.

The San Leandro Dahlia Society is exhibiting its favorite dahlias with on-line photos taken from the member's gardens, plus some indoor bouquets and arrangements.

The public is invited to view the blooms and vote for a favorite one in each category. Voting opened on Sept. 9 and continues until 5 p.m. on Saturday, Sept. 12.

Visit the show by going to SLDS.club and click on the dahlia show.

County to Allow Some In-Class Learning

By Michael Singer
San Leandro Times

Schools in Alameda County have until Friday at noon to let county officials know if they want to bring some students back into the classroom.

On Sept. 2, the Alameda County Office of Education and Alameda County Public Health Department announced the policy on elementary school waivers. The applications for in-person instruction apply only to students in Transitional Kindergarten (TK) through Grade 6 and only if the school district meets a stringent, multi-step process. The waivers apply to any school operating in Alameda County whether they are public, private, faith-based, special needs, or charter schools.

Permission to reopen these classrooms is also dependent on how well Alameda County as a whole combats the spread of Covid-19. Alameda County is in the Purple Tier per the State's Blueprint for a Safer Economy, which indicates widespread Covid-19 in our area.

Schools aren't supposed to open for in-person learning until disease conditions improve and we move into the next tier (Red) see LEARNING, page 12

Council OK's Townhouse Project, 5-2

39-unit development set for former Manor Bowl site; many speakers call for police firing

By Mike McGuire
San Leandro Times

The San Leandro City Council approved the controversial Maple Lane townhouse development in Washington Manor on Tuesday night, while demands from dozens of residents to fire one or both police officers involved in the Steven Taylor killing also lit up the online Zoom meeting.

The Council voted, 5-2, to approve 39-units of three-story townhouses, with six of those units affordable, on the site of the closed Manor Bowl at 903 Manor Boulevard.

They insisted the developer address issues of the taller buildings casting shadows and threatening the privacy of neighbors in nearby one- and two-story houses. Minor modifications are permitted after a vote to approve a project, City Manager Jeff Kay said.

Several City Council members and Mayor Pauline Cutter also promised to have the city do more to address current traffic problems, which some residents fear would be worsened by the project.

When time came for a vote, several council members praised the proposed project as "excellent." Mayor Cutter said it would let people own homes in San

Leandro who might otherwise leave the city to find housing, while Vice Mayor Pete Ballew praised some affordable units

Zoom Class Disrupted

By Mike McGuire
San Leandro Times

San Leandro school district officials quickly called in the police to investigate after a fifth-grade McKinley School online Zoom class was disrupted Aug. 24 by someone inserting inappropriate material.

The practice, called Zoom-bombing, is the unauthorized intrusion of a Zoom video conference by a hacker to disrupt the meeting. Zoom is now widely used in schools and for government meetings.

San Leandro Unified School District spokesperson Keziah Moss said the exact nature of the material inserted is being home in a place zoned for roosters.

Buddy is a cute male bunny who is growing out his hair. Buddy is easy going and enjoys hopping around to explore. He perks up when you come into the room and enjoys being social.

If interested in adopting Cluck Norris or Buddy, call the Hayward Animal Shelter at 510-293-7200.

New Children's Book by Local Writer Uses Themes of Skin Color and Self

A local writer and illustrator have just published a new children's book around the theme of skin color and the celebration of self.

Brown: The Many Shades of Love, written by Nancy Johnson James and illustrated by Constance Moore, is published by Cameron+Company.

The narrative around skin tone and celebration of self takes on a sweet and simple guise in this story, featuring Nancy Johnson James's poetic lines and Constance Moore's painterly illustrations.

Nancy Johnson James is a writer and educator in Oakland, California. She has an MFA in creative writing from St. Mary's College of California and her poetry has appeared in several print and online publications.

Constance Moore is an artist and educator who has an MFA in interdisciplinary art from Goddard College. She loves teaching elementary school art.

The 32-page book retails for $15.95.

Pair of Small Quakes Felt in SL

Two small earthquakes were felt in San Leandro on Sunday morning.

The first quake struck at 11:36 a.m. just southeast of San Leandro and was a 2.6 on the Richter scale. The second, seven minutes later, was a 3.4 magnitude quake that struck about in the same area, according to the United States Geological Survey.

Light shaking was felt around the East Bay.

Walmart on Davis Street To Reopen this Month

The Walmart store on Davis Street in San Leandro now has a tentative opening date of Sept. 18.

The store in the Westgate Center was damaged in the night of looting on May 31. Repairs have been underway at the store so that it can reopen, said Walmart spokesman Robert Arrieta.

Since the reopening date is tentative, Arrieta said customers can check the store's Facebook page for updates.

League of Women Voters to Provide Election Information

Online presentation on Monday

The San Leandro Public Library invites the community to attend a virtual voter information session put on by the Eden Area chapter of the League of Women Voters on Monday, Sept. 14, at 6 p.m.

The presentation will include information on voting by mail and how to research for local elections. Learn about Voter's Edge, the Easy Voter Guide, League candidate forums and other useful tools that will get you ready for the November election.

This workshop is free. Registration is required. Register by going to www.sanleandrolibrary.org, then going to Latest Library News, and follow the link in the news article.

The League of Women Voters is a nonpartisan political organization encouraging informed and active participation in government. It influences public policy through education and advocacy.

The Eden Area League represents the communities of Hayward, Castro Valley, San Leandro, and San Lorenzo, and the unincorporated areas, including Ashland, Cherryland, Fairview, and Hillcrest Knolls.

More details about these free virtual programs are available at www.sanleandrolibrary.org or by calling 510-577-3971.

Wheeler Named General Manager of Hayward Area Recreation District

Directors of the Hayward Area Recreation and Park District, more commonly known as HARD, have appointed James Wheeler as the district's next General Manager effective Oct. 1, 2020.

Wheeler will replace Paul McCreary who will retire at the end of this month.

Wheeler, who currently serves as HARD's Recreation, Arts and Community Services Director, has focused on non-traditional recreation programming to under-served populations, and facilitating public input in the design of the district's capital projects.

He has more than 30 years experience in recreation services, arts, aquatics and parks, having dedicated his career for over 30 years to the field.

He has held management positions in San Francisco and Oakland, and has served on state-

Cold Drinks for Hot Days

CLASSIC LEMONADE

1-1/2 cups freshly squeezed lemon juice (from about 12 lemons)
1/2 cup sugar
6 cups water
Lemon slices (to garnish)
Ice

In a large pitcher combine the lemon juice, sugar, and 1 cup water. Stir until the sugar dissolves, then add 5 more cups water, a few slices of lemon to garnish, and plenty of ice. Serves 8.

RASPBERRY FIZZ

1/2 cup sugar
3 tablespoons lime juice
2 cups cranberry juice
3 cups club soda
1 cup ginger ale
1 pint raspberry sorbet

In a small saucepan over high heat, combine the sugar and 1/2 cup of water. Bring to a boil and cook until slightly thickened, about 2 minutes. Remove from heat and add the lime juice. Let the lime syrup cool to room temperature.

In a pitcher, combine 1/2 cup of lime syrup with the cranberry juice, seltzer, and ginger ale. Pour into glasses and top with scoops of raspberry sorbet. Serves 6.

ICED LEMON-GINGER TEA

4-inch piece fresh ginger
6 cups water
1/2 cup honey
1/2 cup sugar
Zest of 2 lemons
1 cup fresh lemon juice
Lemon slices for garnish

Peel ginger and cut crosswise into thin slices. Combine the ginger, water, honey, sugar and zest in a medium saucepan; boil until sugar dissolves. Remove pan from heat and steep tea, covered, for 45 minutes. Uncover tea and cool completely.

Remove ginger and lemon zest with a slotted spoon and discard. Pour tea into a pitcher and add lemon juice. Chill tea, covered until cold. Serve over ice in tall glasses and garnish with lemon slices if desired. Yields about 7 cups.

FRUIT & MINT TEA PUNCH

5 cups boiling water
8 tea bags
1-1/2 cups sugar (or to taste)
2-1/2 cups orange juice
1 cup fresh lemon juice
1 bunch fresh mint, leaves only
1 orange, sliced

1 lemon, sliced

Pour boiling water over the tea bags. Cover and steep for 5 minutes. Remove tea bags and pour tea into a large pitcher. Add the orange and lemon juices and mint. Chill. When cold, add the sliced orange and lemon. Yields about 10 cups.

BREWED ICED LATTE

1/3 cup classic roast coffee
2 cups cold water
1 (14 oz.) can Sweetened Condensed Milk

Brew coffee in coffeemaker using 2 cups cold water.

Combine coffee and sweetened condensed milk in pitcher, stirring until blended. Serve over ice. Yields 5 servings.

ICED COFFEE (FOR 24 SERVINGS)

1 pound ground good medium roast coffee
Half-and-half (healthy splash per serving)
Sweetened condensed milk (2 to 3 tablespoons per serving)

In a large container, mix the ground coffee with 8 quarts water. Cover and allow to sit at room temperature for eight hours or overnight. Line a fine mesh strainer with cheesecloth and set over a pitcher or other container. Pour the coffee/water mixture through the strainer, allowing all the liquid to run through. Discard the grounds. Place the coffee liquid in refrigerator to chill and use as needed.

To make iced coffee, pack a glass full of ice cubes. Fill the glass two-thirds full with the coffee liquid. Add a splash of half-and-half and 2 to 3 tablespoons sweetened condensed milk. Stir to combine. Taste and adjust the half-and-half and/or sweetened condensed milk as needed. Yields 24 servings.

FRESH STRAWBERRY LEMONADE

Juice of 9 lemons (1-1/2 cups)
5-6 cups water
1/2 pound fresh, hulled strawberries puréed in blender
Sugar to taste

Combine lemon juice, water and 3/4 of the strawberry purée. Add sugar until you have reached the desired tartness. Add strawberry purée until the lemon/strawberry balance is about equal. Serve over ice.

WATERMELON & MINT COOLER

4 cups seedless watermelon chunks (about 1 pound)
1-1/2 cups lemonade
1/2 cup fresh mint

In a blender, puree the watermelon and lemonade. Stir in mint and serve over ice. Serves 4.

MANGO WITH A TASTE OF GINGER

1/2 cup pineapple juice, chilled
1 cup diced mango
1 banana, sliced
2 teaspoons fresh lime juice
1/2 teaspoon grated, peeled fresh ginger
Ice cubes

In blender, combine pineapple juice, mango, banana, lime juice, ginger, and ice and blend until mixture is smooth. Pour into 1 tall glass.

BUTTERMILK LEMONADE

Like lemonade, buttermilk has long been a traditional cooling drink on a hot day.

2 tablespoons sugar
1/4 cup lemon juice
1 quart buttermilk

Combine sugar and lemon juice in a pitcher; stir until sugar is dissolved. Stir in buttermilk. Refrigerate until well-chilled. Makes 1 quart.

GUEST COMMENTARY

Top Ten COVID-19 Issues Currently Affecting Real Estate

The Counselors of Real Estate (CRE) just released an outstanding summary of the major issues currently affecting real estate in this new reality.* This is a brief summary.

COVID-19. Real estate practices as we have experienced them have been turned upside down. Previously accepted norms are being questioned and the future of many (open houses) are questionable.

With many sheltering-in-place and moving their workplace to their homes, the types and locations of desirable housing will be changing. Additionally, expect massive changes in the commercial real estate arena.

Economic Renewal. While the stock and real estate markets are currently ramping upward, the fact that our nation is in a recession will produce a tipping point that may usher us into downward markets for the foreseeable future. The longer pandemic restrictions are in place, the more severe will be the recovery.

Capital Market Risk. The first thing hit when the pandemic arrived was the stock market. While recent returns have elevated the market back to pre-Covid levels, long-term uncertainty concerning pandemic-induced cultural and business changes will have a profound impact.

Public & Private Indebtedness. In an effort to hold businesses together, the feds instituted sweeping financial bailouts that have increased our national debt to unprecedented heights. Individual debt is also up as many have been using credit to hold things together during the crisis.

Affordable Housing. While we all agree that the extreme lack of housing is a primary concern, there is also a strong undercurrent of "not in my back yard" making potential solutions difficult.

Flow of People: Immigration has been halted and people are fleeing urban centers as the pandemic deepens. This will ultimately result in significant demographic shifts across the country.

Space Utilization. Health in the workplace is an emerging issue that will shape the face of commercial real estate going forward. Many amenities such as restaurants and theaters may never look the same again.

Technology & Workflow. Technology that enhances security and "touchless" operation of commonly shared devices will begin to emerge as mandatory.

Infrastructure. With much of our infrastructure moving from brick-and-mortar to online entities, we will see massive infrastructure changes in the near future.

ESG. Environmental, Social and Governance criteria has become a critical component in real estate investing. Issues like climate control will be affecting real estate at all levels going forward.

We recommend reading the entire article at <https://www.cre.org/external-affairs/2020-21-top-ten-issues-affecting-real-estate/>

Raccoons Devastate Lawn

By Buzz Bertolero
Special to the Times

Last fall, we had a problem with raccoons as they tore up the lawn to feast on the grubs. I want to discourage the raccoons early on this year. Is there an easy way to tell if the lawn grubs have returned?

Grubs are immature beetles found in the ground. As they mature, they begin to feed on the grassroots, killing lawn patches in the process. The damage is visible from late summer through the fall.

The damage starts typically next to cement or a hot concrete edge and quickly spreads outwards toward the lawn's center. The dead grass easily peels off the soil surface, exposing the grubs.

Grubs can still be present in undamaged grass and that's why the raccoons return.

There is a simple test for the presence of grubs using detergent and water. With stakes and string, mark off two by two-foot squares. Mix two tablespoons of liquid soap or detergent in a bucket of water and evenly pour the solution over the areas. I'd set up several test sites. The sites can be any area where the turf has turned brown and a normal area.

Keep a close eye on the surface for the next 10 to 15 minutes. The detergent agitates the grubs forcing them to the soil surface. Typically, more than five grub per quarter-square foot warrants treatment.

The organic solution for grubs is to apply Beneficial Nematodes. Beneficial Nematodes kill all the soil insects except earthworms. They're applied with a tank sprayer. Beneficial Nematodes done early on will rid the area of all the soil insects and force the raccoons to look elsewhere for a food source.

Another solution is Bayer Season Long Grub Control. It can be applied as early as May or June and provides grub control over an extended period. These products do not provide immediate results, as they take seven to ten days or longer to be effective. Unfortunately, the raccoons continue to be destructive, so be proactive and start your controls early.

Why does my lawn have a brown cast to it after it's mowed. It was a newly sodded lawn last fall.

There is a simple solution to this problem: Raise the mowing height on your lawn-mower.

When mowing grass, you only want to remove one-third of the grass's blade to keep it green. There are two parts to a grass leaf. The upper part, which is called the blade, and the lower part is called the sheath. The sheath is not green but a light tan or beige color. Hence when you mow the blade off you get this off color look. The website www.thelawninstitute.org/pages/education/grass-plant-physiology/plant-physiology will give you much more detailed information.

Now, you probably installed a type of tall Fescue as it's the predominant variety used in today's sod lawns. Tall Fescue is mowed high around three inches. If you cut it short, it has an unattractive appearance.

having four bedrooms, a rarity for Bay Area families.

The “no” votes were cast by council members Corina Lopez and Victor Aguilar. Lopez said she was open to the project with some of the modifications requested by the community, but that these should come before approval, not afterwards.

The public commented electronically on the development, with most speakers opposing the development. A group of Washington Manor residents opposing the project has held several meetings on their own and encouraged people to speak against the development.

Height of the buildings and traffic were the most cited complaints, followed by a concern that the three-story project would block views and cast shadows on neighbor's homes, and would let residents of the new building see into neighbor's backyards and homes.

Supporters of the project cited a need for housing overall in San Leandro, letting current tenants own homes in San Leandro and near their families, and an environmentally friendly design for the project, including its being all-electric.

The supporters also cited the need not to let the currently run-down site remain vacant, fearing it would be a magnet for trash and dumping that would drag down the neighborhood.

The owners of the adjacent Manor Square shopping center came out strongly for the townhouse development, joined by the San Leandro Chamber of Commerce.

The proposal had passed the Planning Commission July 2 on a 6-1 vote, with Catherine Houston opposed.

Some of the public opposition came from Chinese-speaking residents of Washington Manor, and the council struggled at Tuesday's meetings to get their online Chinese translation system working smoothly. Some or all of several speakers' comments were left untranslated, though the experience of meeting attendees seemed to vary by what kind of computer or device they were using to participate.

Several speakers at Tuesday's meeting complained that the city hadn't fully involved the community in the consideration of the proposal, particularly when Covid-19 made ordinary methods of participation difficult. Some nearby residents claimed not to have gotten notices of the proposal, which were supposed to go to all who lived within 500 feet of the project. Chinese translation was not provided at community meetings until July, limiting Chinese community participation, said speaker Sam Family.

investigated by the police. She added, however, that because of Zoom's format it likely appeared in one small square of the screen, not across the entire screen, and thus may not have been noticed by some participants and might not be made out by others.

Zoom, as used by schools, typically shows the teacher along with each student in his or her small square on the screen, Moss said.

Superintendent Mike McLaughlin, in a letter on Aug. 25, characterized the material as “inappropriate and possibly pornographic images.” He said it was not known if the material was inserted by a student, by another member of the school community, or by outsiders.

Because it was not clear just what was shown or how visible it was to users, and it was not clear who had inserted it, the district turned it over immediately to the San Leandro police to investigate, rather than the district investigating on its own, Moss said.

McLaughlin said the district was providing assistance to families whose children might have seen the material, and was increasing security protections for Zoom classes. In particular, the school district will make sure everyone is signing in to the classes using the district's secure site and district-issued e-mail addresses, and not using personal e-mail addresses.

Moss explained that when the district first hurriedly instituted distance learning in the spring, not all families had computers available, those that did had various kinds of hardware, and that some students or families had e-mail addresses while others didn't. Thus, she said, the district initially allowed students to sign in using personal e-mails until the district could get everyone on the same equipment.

That was accomplished by the end of the summer, Moss said. Families were told to use Chromebooks if they had them, and the district provided them to families who lacked them. Families were also told to get secure district e-mail addresses for students and to no longer use personal e-mail addresses.

At this point, everybody should be using Chromebooks and district e-mail accounts, Moss said.

She also said that teachers have all been trained in using the technology, including how to exclude any person disrupting a session. In the wake of the recent incident, the district sent teachers reminders of best settings for the program to minimize problems.

Moss said that while the number of deliberate disruptions should be zero, there have been very few problems reported in the nearly 14,000 Zoom sessions held in the district in just the first two weeks of the school year. Some 9,000 district students participate in several Zoom classes every school day.

Moss added that the technology professionals of all the area school districts work together closely to identify potential security problems with Zoom and other software with the aim of preventing Zoom bombing of classes in particular. A number of nearby districts have had classes Zoom bombed, some with extremely offensive material, she said.

She added that Zoom was not originally developed for teaching classes, but was pressed into service quickly by schools around the country when the need for something like it suddenly arose.

Moss also said that the district is keeping a close eye on security improvements to Zoom as announced, and is looking at other software coming to the market that may have tighter security built in. In particular Google, known for its attention to security, is coming out with a new version of Meet specifically to compete with Zoom, she said.

Hospital Workers Picket Eden

About two dozen employees of Eden Medical Center staged an informational picket outside the hospital last Thursday. Respiratory therapists, medical technicians, MRI technologists, and other employees represented by Teamsters 856 say some 150 frontline workers at the Castro Valley hospital have not had a new contract since March. They are the only unionized group at the hospital that has not settled their negotiations.

Disaster Preparedness Month Checklist

September is National Preparedness Month, a reminder that being prepared is more than just the Boy Scouts motto.

Having a family emergency plan is important with wildfire season, a pandemic and – in California – always a chance of a big earthquake.

Be prepared for the unexpected with an emergency plan. Have water, food and supplies to survive for several days.

A supply kit and information on disaster preparedness can be found on www.ready.gov - the website of the Department of Homeland Security. Some of the items on the supply list include:

- A three-day supply of water and food for every person in the household

- Battery-powered radio
- Flashlight
- First-aid kit
- Dust mask
- Plastic sheeting and duct tape

• Towellettes, garbage bags and plastic ties

- Wrench and pliers to turn off utilities.
- Manual can opener
- Maps and cell phone

Also, the CDC recommends items to prevent the spread of coronavirus and flu – facemasks, soap, etc.

Other items that might be needed are medications, prescription glasses, baby bottles and formula, pet food, cash, sleeping bag, fire extinguisher, mess kits, cups and plates, paper and pencil.

The DHS also notes that since you don't know where you will be when a disaster strikes, emergency supplies should be kept at home, work and in your car.

City Offers Emergency Rental Assistance for Financial Impact of Covid

The City of San Leandro today announced a new rental assistance program that will help provide relief to qualified residential tenants financially impacted by the Covid-19 pandemic, as unanimously approved by the City Council in June.

The program is being funded with $451,972 in one-time Community Development Block Grant federal stimulus funds to prevent, prepare for, and respond to Covid-19 under the CARES Act approved by Congress and the president earlier this spring.

"It is critical that we continue to support residential renters in our city as we navigate through the unprecedented financial impacts of the pandemic," said

Mayor Pauline Russo Cutter. "This program will provide safety net assistance for residents and families in San Leandro. I applaud city staff for working expeditiously on finalizing this grant program."

The San Leandro Emergency Rental Assistance Program will provide payments for up to three months on behalf of qualifying San Leandro renters who have lost income due to Covid-19 and meet federal low-income requirements.

For example, in 2020, a one-person renter household earning $73,100, a 2-person household earning $83,550, and a 3 person household earning $94,000 would qualify. The monthly assistance payments will be provided directly to property owners or managers on behalf of qualifying residents and will be applicable to rent due after March 16, 2020, when the Alameda County Shelter-In-Place Order took effect.

Residential tenant applicants are required to submit documentation confirming proof of tenancy and financial hardship resulting from Covid-19, including but not limited to one of the following: loss of or reduction in employment or wages, increased medical or childcare costs, or loss of childcare. All documentation and rental and lease agreements are subject to verification.

The program is being administered by Centro Legal de la Raza, a non-profit legal services provider. All Rental Assistance Program details, including eligibility requirements, application materials and submittal deadlines are available on Centro Legal de la Raza's website at: <http://www.centrolegal.org/rental-assistance/> or on the City of San Leandro's website at: <https://www.sanleandro.org/depts/cd/housing/default.asp>.

Contact Centro Legal or City staff for a hard copy application if you do not have access to a computer or for information on where to find a program application. The deadline to apply for the Rental Assistance Program is Sept. 30. Hard copy applications will be accepted with postmarks up until the application deadline. Funding

ARIES (March 21 - April 19): Careful, Lamb. Taking on too many tasks at one time can cause you to create more snarls each time you try to work your way through the tangled mass. Best to handle one job at a time.

TAURUS (April 20 - May 20): Making bold moves is what Bovines do. But the best moves are made with lots of data to provide backup just in case you charge into an unexpected complication. A new relationship shows promise.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20): Sharing credit for a job well done is easy for you to do, but not necessarily for your partner. But fair is fair. Don't let yourself be denied the right to have your contributions recognized.

CANCER (June 21 - July 22): Communication is important to help bridge a gap that can lead to problems at home and/or at the workplace. Find a way to get your points across before the breach becomes a chasm.

LEO (July 23 - August 22): Relationships, whether business or personal, need to be watched carefully for signs of trouble. Any negative indications should be dealt with before they become too burdensome.

VIRGO (August 23 - Sept. 22): Congratulations. A more positive aspect highlights much of the Virgo's week. You should find others more receptive to your suggestions, and also more likely to act on them.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 - October 22): All work and little play could wear the Libra's usually positive attitude down. Take some much-needed time off. Perhaps a short jaunt with someone special is the way to go.

SCORPIO (October 23 - November 21): This is a good time to expand your view from the known to the unfamiliar. Confronting new situations could be challenging, but ultimately also could be extremely satisfying.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21): Giving advice to those who just want validation for what they're doing can be unsettling. So back off and save your counsel for those who really appreciate it.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19): Cultivating a more positive attitude not only makes you feel better about yourself, but also has an upbeat effect on those around you, especially that certain someone.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18): Keeping the lines of communication open and accessible is the key to establishing the right foundation on which to build an important and meaningful relationship. Stay with it.

PISCES (Feb. 19 - March 20): Before agreeing to act on a request, consider using your perceptive Piscean talents to see what might lie hidden beneath its surface and could possibly cause problems later on.

Bay Area First Responders Honored Virtually

For its 21st year, Redwood Chapel in Castro Valley celebrated its Annual Night of Honor last week, but in a decidedly different fashion because of the pandemic.

This year, on Aug. 31, instead of the usual big outdoor sit-down dinner in the church parking lot to thank the area's first responders, church volunteers took catered lunches or dinners to the California Highway Patrol office, the Alameda County Sheriff's Eden Township Station, and four Alameda County Fire Stations, according to Redwood's Executive Pastor Eric Junginger.

Each dinner included a thank-you note from Redwood Chapel.

The event was organized by former San Leandro Police Officer Dennis Glover.

There were plenty of responses in return.

"The meals went quick!" said one CHP officer. "Even though we cannot share a meal together at the Night of Honor event, our hearts are warmed with the love and thoughtfulness displayed by Redwood Chapel and the members of your congregation."

"We have not had visitors inside the office for a long time, so it really made our day. Thank you for the meals and more importantly, the support. We are proud to serve this community, and appreciate every person in it."

NIGHT OF HONOR: Former police officer Dennis Glover, center, with a group of Alameda County Sheriff's officers. Glover organized the volunteer delivery of catered meals for the 21st Annual Night of Honor, hosted by Redwood Chapel in Castro Valley.

Sign Up for H.A.R.D. Fall Virtual Classes

The Hayward Area Recreation and Park District (H.A.R.D.) announced the Fall Recreation Programs Guide is now available with a wide variety of virtual recreation classes and programs.

In response to the initial Covid-19 pandemic last spring, H.A.R.D. closed and cancelled most recreation programs and facilities. Re-opening and returning programs have been based on Alameda County shelter-in-place orders. Open space and parks continue to remain open to the public.

Visit www.HaywardRec.org to see the fall programs.

"This has been a very challenging time for our community, and we know how important it is to keep providing opportunities for recreation," said H.A.R.D. board President Paul Hodges. "There are some terrific programs for the fall and, given our continued limitations due to Covid, we are laser focused on keeping our families healthy. HARD values play and creativity, and that's what recreation and parks bring to our residents."

Proper Police Training

Editor:

The San Leandro police officer's killing of Steven Taylor has demonstrated a failing in our police department to properly train our officers in the deadly use of force.

While the charging of the officer by Alameda County District Attorney is a gesture toward justice, there is no reason to believe that arresting of the officer involved will prevent future misuses of deadly force. Campaign Zero is a well thought out document that advises city governments on reforms that realign policing to better serve the needs of the community.

I urge my fellow citizens to look up the document and to encourage our mayor and city council members to adopt the suggestions recommended in it. Police abuse of the deadly use of force must stop.

—Robert Shelby

Pushing Back Against Police

Editor:

I joined many other residents of San Leandro in protesting the April 18 brutal slaying of Steven Taylor by SLPD officer Jason Fletcher inside the Walmart store on Hesperian Blvd.

The disciplined marches, rallies, vigils and news conferences that involved family members, San Leandro High students and many others demanded the arrest, prosecution and conviction of the officer. These actions helped convince Alameda County District Attorney Nancy O'Malley to charge Fletcher with voluntary manslaughter and he will be arraigned on September 15.

This is a victory in the fight to push back against police officers acting as judge, jury and executioner. Such police violence is aimed at intimidating and punishing working people and falls most heavily on African Americans like Taylor.

Chennault Asks for Your Vote

Editor:

Thank you for your coverage of the San Leandro Unified School District Election. As a parent, I feel informed about the choices.

A few things caught my attention for correction and explanation. Firstly, the reason I am running for the school board is that I am a proud parent of three wonderful mixed-race children attending both John Muir and SLHS today.

My family, along with teachers and students, has to deal with today's challenges that have no precedent in the past. We need a trustee who is a parent grappling with today's challenges and not a trustee who is taking a victory lap on past accomplishments.

We need a trustee who participates in PTO, LCAP, and school events. We need a parent community partner, not a trustee on a raised council dais. We need a trustee who has children struggling with all the technology and distractions of modern-day life.

We need a trustee who listens to teachers asking for technology training and help. We need a trustee that helps their children and others to make school work for children, parents, and teachers.

I will bring the leadership, relevant experience, compassion, and empathy we need to lead through this difficult time. I am a father, a veteran, and running for SLUSD school board. I would be grateful for your support.

Endorses Azevedo for Council

Editor:

As the immediate past San Leandro District 2 Planning Commissioner appointed by Ed Hernandez, I am endorsing Bryan Azevedo for San Leandro District 2 City Council.

Through the years, Bryan has consistently demonstrated his commitment to our community with his genuine caring for his fellow citizens. Bryan is always found eagerly helping others.

Bryan also engaged with our group, Rainbow San Leandro, since the beginning – supporting member activities and participating in Rainbow San Leandro events as a true ally listening to our needs and concerns.

We are living in an unprecedented time with a deadly pandemic. From the beginning, Bryan accelerated his community service to help those in need. While some on the City Council have been and continue to be radio silent, Bryan has been initiating and mobilizing support for our most vulnerable, not for publicity, but as a true servant leader. This is an example of the passion that Bryan brings to San Leandro.

I am very impressed as Bryan has refused special interest campaign donations to his campaign such as donations from real estate developers. This is another example of Bryan's commitment to protecting neighborhoods and making decisions based on what is best for the citizens of San Leandro without the obligation to make good on a special interest campaign donation.

While I was on the Planning Commission, it is on the record that protecting neighborhoods was a top priority. Protecting neighborhoods, creating a focus on San Leandro High School student safety, as well as celebrating San Leandro diversity are areas of tremendous passion for me. I feel Bryan Azevedo will be a valued voice on our Council to represent me and his other constituents while leading through the difficult decisions that will be facing our community as we forge through this pandemic as well as the hypercritical economic recovery needed in both the private and public sector.

'One Logical Conclusion'

Editor:

If you're an honest and decent person, and are fed up:

With criminals released into the streets and vandals terrorizing the citizens, looting businesses built by hard working people with great sacrifice; with the complicity of Democratic Party officials who are asking law abiding citizens to stay in home detention; with California's Democratic government mismanagement of the forests that causes fires every year, while using federal assistance to provide services to illegals and even cash; at the same time shifting the blame on PG&E, lightning or climate change; with said officials shutting down businesses, sending them into bankruptcy, and not being able to find a barber shop, a beauty salon, and many other businesses open; with the same Democratic Party officials at state, county or city level asking us to pay higher taxes while keeping their departments and offices closed to the public while they're receiving their paychecks at home; with the Fake News' venomous lying snakes piling up every single death into the Coronavirus pile and rooting for the virus, acting like a propaganda agency for the Democrats.

If you've noticed how the Covid 19 hysteria is being whipped up by manipulating the numbers and repeating the lies in order to keep you in home detention, when the deaths have been extremely higher in states run by Democrats: New York, New Jersey, Michigan, California etc...

If you're a "progressive" and stand against wars, remember that that duo Obama-Biden launched the bombing of Libya, armed the Islamists in Syria and ordered the "signature killings" with drones in Afghanistan, all over the Middle East and the North of Africa while Biden's son was on the board of a corrupt corporation in the Ukraine.

If you're concerned about millions of dollars wasted by Nancy Pelosi in the witch hunt against the Trump administration, the impeachment, etc. with zero results, and, if you're fed up with California becoming a big homeless encampment; then, you can only come to the one logical conclusion: To vote for Donald J. Trump

The Chosen Leader

Editor:

Every soul is sacred and we mourn for all those taken.

This night will finally end and our Country will awaken.

Life gives everyone a choice, yet countless others say,

Listen only to one voice.
"Like a miracle, it goes away."

Questions long will linger...
Had The Chosen Leader led?

If he "acted very strongly" why so many thousands dead?

Democracy on the Ballot

Editor:

We've seen the pattern countless times: he projects his nasty character onto others. The man who called Ted Cruz "Lying Ted" has told more than 20,000 lies while in office.

The president, who doesn't start working until lunchtime, calls Joe Biden "Lazy." Now, he's saying the election will be rigged, and just to make sure, he is telling his followers to vote twice, by mail and in person.

His shameful advocacy is illegal; he is inciting voters to commit a felony. It creates the very rigging that he will claim when disparaging the election results. He is anti-democracy.

Our health, safety, and democracy are on the ballot this November. Will the perpetrator who blames problems he has created on others be re-elected, or will Americans reclaim our democracy and our decency? A landslide repudiation of this trumpery can rescue our future.

Let every voter's ballot count, but only once.

While some who commented Tuesday opposed the project altogether, others called for a delay until the problems identified could be discussed further with the community.

Cutter Announces Third Party to Decide on Firing of Policeman

Mayor Cutter had begun the meeting with a statement that the city was having a third-party investigation to see if personnel action was warranted against San Leandro Police Officer Jason Fletcher.

The officer was recently indicted by Alameda County District Attorney Nancy O'Malley for voluntary manslaughter in the April 18 shooting of Steven Taylor at the Walmart on Hesperian Boulevard. Police said Taylor was threatening the officers and others with a baseball bat.

Cutter said a third-party investigation was legally required before any personnel action is taken against Fletcher, such as his firing.

That requirement was disputed by a number of speakers at the meeting, who called for Fletcher's immediate firing. Several called for the firing as well of Officer Stefan Overton, who arrived just after Fletcher had shot Taylor, and then fired his Taser at Taylor.

Speaker Jenna Hewitt King decried "143 days of inaction" since Taylor's death. She called for the city manager to immediately fire the two police officers, and for the city manager to be fired if he refused.

San Leandro High Students Call for Firing

Erica Viray Santos, coordinator of the Social Justice Academy at San Leandro High School, said Fletcher should be fired for the shooting, and Overton for not providing immediate medical attention as Taylor lay bleeding on the floor.

Numerous students from the Social Justice Academy, which runs a Justice for Steven Taylor Campaign, spoke at the meeting to urge firing one or both officers and for the city to formally apologize to Taylor's family. Several complained that Officer Fletcher has been on paid leave for the five months since the shooting, while Overton has been on patrol rather than being placed on desk duty without public contact.

EBMUD Opens New Reservoir

What looks like some gigantic interstellar space probe is actually the new Carisbrook Reservoir in Oakland, one of 20 infrastructure projects completed so far this year by East Bay Municipal Utility District at a total cost of $49 million. The one million gallon pre-stressed concrete reservoir and new pumping plant has the capacity of pumping more than a million gallons of water a day and includes solar panels on the roof that can generate 30-kilowatts of electricity.

Hear a Talk at Aviation Museum

Oakland Aviation Museum invites you to a fun program, Storytime and Sidewalk chalk drawing with Docent Eulanna Allen on Saturday Sept. 12th at noon.

This is an outdoor event only, indoor exhibits are closed.

Alameda County Health directive requires masks and social distancing at all times. Admission rates: Adults $15, seniors $12, military and teens $10, kids 5-12 year old $8, kids 4 and under free.

The museum is located at the Oakland Airport's North Field, 8252 Earhart Road in Oakland, just off Doolittle Drive.

Learning: Schools plan for re-entry

for 14 days, according to the Public Health Department. But, while we are in the Purple Tier, the county may accept waivers to allow in-person learning for elementary schools (grades TK-6 only).

The Public Health Department lists 13 different requirements for any school wishing to file a waiver and reopen. The school must identify its plans for managing student entrances and movement about the school, how it would administer health screenings for students and staff, how it would identify and trace contacts, and what factors would trigger a classroom shut-down with a return to distance learning.

Some school districts say they are carefully reviewing the requirements with their teachers, staff, labor partners, and leadership teams.

"At this time, we are very grateful to have had a strong start to the first three weeks of school and continuing to support our community in distance learning," said San Leandro Unified School District spokesperson Keziah Moss.

Once a school or school district initiates its interest in re-summing in-person instruction, the reopening plan must be posted on the school or district's website. It must be reviewed and approved by the appropriate boards, teacher associations, and community leadership. The plans must then be submitted to the California State Department of Education for final review. After all criteria are met, the school may then open after 30 days.

Despite the push for a return to some normalcy with teachers and students in the same buildings, some parents are skeptical of any reopening plan.

"With no fundamental shift in our capacity for testing and tracing, I think any move to re-introduce our kids to on-campus instruction is extremely unsafe," said Bill Taroli of Castro Valley who has a second grader. "We needn't look any farther than the outbreaks on every campus that has reopened recently."
