

Juice Newton Online Fanclub Holiday Newsletter 1998

I would like to start this holiday season with a greeting from Juice.

This is the time of year when our focus is on giving and I want to thank all of you for the energy and support you all have give to me over the years. Without Paul and the rest of you out there, what I do would be much, much less rewarding. I sincerely hope that your holidays are joyfuyl and your lives fullfilling as we anticipate the New Year.

With love and gratitude

Juice has signed with a new booking agency. You can log on to the site and check out the other artists represented here as well. Simply visit the Fanclub or Official Juice Newton Homepage and click on the link.

SHOW

This past Labor Day, I was fortunate to see Juice perform. Juice was just fabulous during the show. The weather was warm but Juice was hot! Juice did some new items off her current CD and than sang the hits. The crowd just loved Juice! I took my parents to this show. This was the first time they had ever seen Juice in person. They loved her! The show was held at the Woodstock Fair in Woodstock CT. I had went back to my home state to take my folks to see Juice. More recently, Juice was one of many artists who donated their time December 10 & 11th. The charity benefited "Children's Hosptial" of San Diego. The event was held at the "Esondido Center for The Performing Arts".

CONTEST

Unfortunately, I had to cancel the contest. (Due to lack of participation.) In the fall newsletter I had mentioned a contest would be posted at the Fanclub web site. It was and as I said, there just wasn't enough participation. Don't worry, there will be more too come.

THIS & THAT

Juice will be featured on VH1 in December. The program was to air in September but was rescheduled. As of today, I don't have an air date. Please, check your local listings.

Juice has another new album out! This is Juice Newton's "Anthology". It was released in October. It is the best collection of Juice's songs any fan could possibly want. Also inside the cover are great pictures of Juice and fascinating facts about her. You can buy this in the stores or on the web, Simply go to the Fanclub's site and click on the "Anthology" cover to get to the record company where you can buy this. There are also other great artists listed. Check it out!

Holiday Cheer

Juice recorded a Christmas song a few years ago on a charity CD. The collection was called "The Stars Come Out For Christmas". Everyone from Juice Newton to Loretta Lynne performed on this. Juice sang a song called "Christmas Needs Love To Be Christmas"

Lyrics to "Christmas Needs Love To Be Christmas"

The Christmas tree is decorated, all the shopping's done. Stockings line the fireplace one by one.

All the presents look so pretty, tied with brightly colored bows. All these things help make the season. Still everybody knows.

Christmas needs love to be Christmas. Christmas needs hearts full of joy. Carolers singing, silver bells ringing, laughter for each girl and boy. Christmas needs love to be Christmas it's something we all need more of. The greatest of all gifts is love.

RECAP of 1998 Juice's Career

In April of this year, Juice's new album "The Trouble With Angels" was released. Juice has never sounded better. Juice was on "Prime Time Country" shortly after and sang the title cut and "The Sweetest Thing (I've Ever Known)". Right after that, she was on "Crook & Chase" and sang "When I Get Over You". We also learned during that show that Juice does voiceovers.

In the month of June, Juice performed a charity concert for the "Substance Abuse Program for Women & Children San Diego".

Juice was also on the road a lot this past year and will be again in 1999. In September Juice was in Woodstock CT over Labor Day Weekend. In the fall of 1998 Juice was featured in a nationwide radio show called, "The Lost 45's". Also, she will be featured in a special on VH1 in December. The show is called "Where Are They Now?" This was to originally air in September but got rescheduled.
