HD FURY 2 HDMI CONVERTOR

Product Includes

Product Description

Unfortunately, the rapidly progressing development of standards in the field of digital video mean that there is also often a lack of backward compatibility. Displays or projectors that are capable of higher resolutions but that do not feature any HDMI/DVI or HDCP support often fall victim to this progressing development, and cannot be used with the latest devices. The HD Fury<sup>2</sup> prevents you having to make expensive new purchases. PS3, HD receiver, Blu-Ray/DVD player or PC can now also be connected to high-quality monitors, displays or projectors without an HDMI/DVI connection or HDCP. The HD Fury<sup>2</sup> is an ultra-small and high-performance HDCP-decoding converter, and creates a razor-sharp, perfectly centred image with amazing depth of colour. The device can convert HDMI (and DVI-D with adapter) to either Component (YPbPr) or VGA (RGBHV), and it is possible to output resolutions of up to 1080p. In addition to the converted video signal, the audio signal can also be separated from HDMI. Output is via a 3.5-mm stereo jack or digital-optically (S/PDIF). HD Fury<sup>2</sup>

BSS DI BOX AR-133

£4.00 (Per Period)

Product Includes

Product Description

The unit includes phantom power and battery supplies as standard. Should the phantom power from the console fail or be accidentally switched off, the AR-133 automatically switches over to the internal 9V battery providing uninterrupted use.

The unit is housed in a rugged aluminium extrusion case, with robust polyurethane end-cheeks which give the AR-133 a very distinctive look.

Input connectors are both 1/4" jack sockets and an XLR socket, the latter meaning that the AR-133 can be used to convert unbalanced signals to a balanced output on XLRs throughout.

The arched case allows cables to run back underneath the unit from the end for neat cable management.

Input attenuation is 0, -20 or -40dB, making the box suitable for instrument, line or amplifier levels on inputs. On the output side, a ground-lift switch is provided for quick solutions to ground-loop problems.

The AR-133 uses an enhanced version of the same audio path as the AR-116, now regarded by many people as a reference standard. The sound quality is legendary, particularly on acoustic and bass guitars.

Numerous applications can be satisfied by the AR-133. For example, as well as the traditional guitar use, the AR-133 can be used with keyboards, DJ consoles, amplifier outputs, and other electronic sources.

An additional bonus is the ability to use the AR-133 as an active balancing device.

ALLEN AND HEATH DANTE CARD - MULTITRACK / DIGITAL SPLIT

£25.00 (Per Period)

Product Includes

Product Description

Dante™ is a ground breaking, Ethernet compliant audio networking technology developed by Australian company Audinate to satisfy the increasing demands of the live sound industry for high performance audio, routing flexibility and affordable direct to computer recording. It uses CAT5 cable and standard networking components to distribute multiple streams of audio plus integrated control data with sub millisecond latency.

Allen & Heath are implementing the new Brooklyn II card from Audinate which takes Dante technology to a new level with a full 64 channels of bi-directional audio. The M-DANTE card can be fitted into Port B of any iLive MixRack for system linking, digital mic splitting, up to 64 track recording, and networking with the growing number of Dante equipped third party audio processors, amplifiers and more. It can also be fitted into Port A of the RAB2 equipped modular iLive as an alternative Surface to MixRack link.

ALLEN AND HEATH GIGA ACE NETWORK CARD

£20.00 (Per Period)

Product Includes

Product Description

The gigaACE audio networking card (M-DL-GACE) is one of several audio networking options that can be fitted to any Allen & Heath dLive I/O Port. It provides a 128x128ch 96kHz gigaACE point-to-point link to another dLive mixing system.

gigaACE is Allen & Heath's proprietary protocol for transporting Audio and Control over Ethernet, using standard CAT cables. It allows very low latency and cable redundancy without any audio dropout. gigaACE can also tunnel the dLive TCP/IP control network over the same connection, for example to enable control of either of the two systems by a single laptop.

The gigaACE card offers a cost-effective and simple solution for digital split applications, replacing the copper multicore / analogue splitters of the past. In a typical FoH / Monitor configuration, the inputs of a dLive system are sent to a second system where independent trim, processing and mixing is applied.

gigaACE is a truly plug 'n play protocol: no computer is required for the setup of gigaACE connections. Simply plug the cable between any two dLive systems and set the patch and clock settings directly on the mixer.

PALMER PEABO OUTPUT SWITCH A/B

£10.00 (Per Period)

Product Includes

Product Description

Palmer PEABO is a Balanced Line Output Switch with one input and two outputs. Thus, it is the perfect choice for routing a signal to either one of two possible inputs. Switch your vocal mic between the FOH and monitor mixing desk to communicate with the monitor mixer or the band on stage. Two different sound configurations: to switch between different effects or sounds on your microphone, e.g. a "telephone effect" or more levels of reverb. Run the outputs of the PEABO into two channels of the mixing desk, that you can configure differently. Now you can freely toggle between them on-stage at any time. You can also use the PEABO to route the signal to two rooms or zones and select either one. Switching is controlled by a sturdy foot switch; the selected output is indicated by a red LED. Slide switches select 15 dB of attenuation for output A and 6, 15 or 21 dB for output B. A ground lift switch eliminates earth loop hum. The PEABO is housed in a solid metal case with extended edges for optimum protection of the input and outputs. Pre-drilled holes permit simple and secure mounting in a rack or on a pedalboard. The PEABO's circuitry is all-passive. A 9V block battery is required to power the LED.

STAGE WEIGHT

£2.50 (Per Period)

Product Includes

Product Description

Flints famous 12.5 kg stage weights are made of cast iron with a malleable iron carrying handle.

They stack easily on their location lugs and have slots which let them sit safely on Stage Braces and French Braces.

The central area is hollowed right through so they cannot be used as ashtrays [nostalgia] or nail stores!

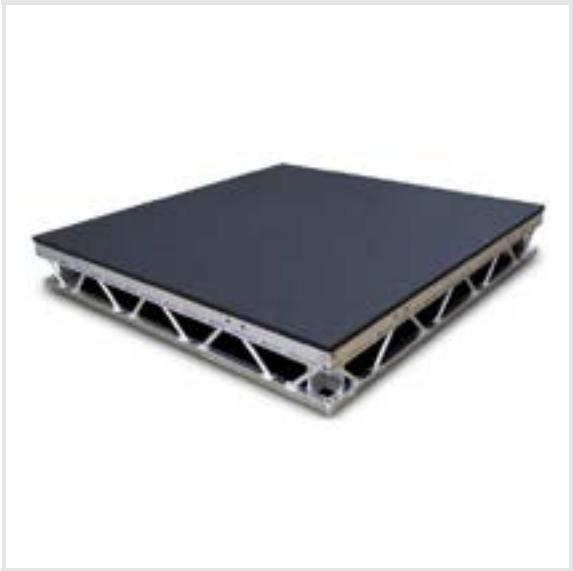

The top edge has deliberately not been rounded over so it remains useful for cutting sash or wire with a hammer.
