Lego Building with Young Engineers—

Our LEGO® camp will be so much fun that your children won't even realize how much STEM they are learning! They will be building a Helicopter using LEGO's, gears, electric motors, and more. They will be learning hands on STEM principles and its real-life implication for the LEGO® model they build. Children will also get about 15 minutes of play time to extend/update their Lego model and use their imagination and creativity to the fullest. Our camp develops critical thinking, encourages team work, and improves organizational skills. Children will not be bringing the Lego's home.
