

STABLECOIN

An Investor's Perspective

January 28, 2019 • New York City

When observing the market in cryptocurrencies today, the fluctuation and risk has caused alarms in the investment community – whether an individual or institutional investor. With the advent of stablecoins, these may serve as a bridge between the fiat world and the digital currency marketplace. But what are the risks and the advantages? And which firms will be leading the way in adaption and market share?

In this After the Bell event we bring together investors and thought-leaders in the growing stablecoin marketplace. Issues addressed include:

- What are stablecoins/security tokens and how are they differentiated from other digital currencies?
- How do you generate alpha from stablecoin?
- Liquidity issues
- Dealing with risk aversion
- What is the advantage of adopting stablecoin & why should people invest?
- How do you get institutional adoption?
- Regulatory issues

Once more, our After the Bell events bring you top-of-mind issues in the fintech space. These events are not recorded or streamed so in order to gain these insights, you must be there.
