

Evaluation Services

The process of getting a college education is difficult enough, but for the graduating high school senior or college student not getting the necessary accommodations, it can seem nearly impossible. Success as a college student, particularly for those who have had accommodations in high school, based on learning disabilities or attention deficit hyperactivity disorder is all the more laborious without the right assistance. To help students get the appropriate accommodations, Vista Psychological & Counseling Centre offers psychological evaluations aimed at assisting students seeking college help. Every evaluation is individually tailored to the University the student is attending and the guidelines by their Office of Students with Disabilities. Students will have each of the following:

Initial consultation including history and record collection regarding past learning difficulties and accommodations.

Review of the specific University policies concerning documentation of past academic problems.

Psychological evaluation as indicated.

Follow-up visit.

Prepared report sent to the University.

Our goal at Vista Psychological & Counseling Centre is to provide the very best assistance possible. High school or college students seeking to extend previous accommodations will receive quality assessment and evaluation by a psychologist.

The initial consultation examines the need for further testing and also gathers important historical evidence of educational difficulties.

Testing identifies areas of strengths and weaknesses. The formal assessment allows students and their chosen University to better understand the areas of accommodations indicated.

The follow-up consultation is aimed at clarifying issues and presenting clear findings concisely and confidentially in our therapeutic setting.

Initial Consultation

will assess the need for further testing and qualifications for college accommodations.

Psychological Testing

includes assessment based on needs defined by the initial assessment and based on the University Office of Disabilities.

Follow-up Consultation
