Sometimes exclusive devotion gets the job done. Are you a single mother, in a committed relationship but at a dead end job? Are you looking to maximize your gifts and keep your greatest assets such as, family, safe and happy? Yes, it is possible to create a niche that speaks to you in excitement and does not necessitate foregoing family or responsibility.

Together, we explore the desires and negotiate the terrain for getting there. You are not mandated to live in the prescribed bubble allocated by this culture.
