

Chamber of commerce to honour 3 Saint John firms founded in

TeleGraph-Journal

the Saint John region chamber of commerce will honour three city companies, founded in 1867, as part of its Canada 150 celebrations, chamber ceo david duplisea announced on tuesday. Photo: telegraPh-Journal

Saint John • The Saint John Region Chamber of Commerce will honour three city companies, founded in 1867, as part of its Canada 150 celebratio

G.E. Barbour Inc., Moosehead Breweries Limited and Source Atlantic will be recognized at a gala dinner during the chamber's 198th annual genera announced on Tuesday.

"We are thrilled to be able to recognize these outstanding companies that have been such an important part of our history since Confederation," cl said in a press release.

"It is a real testament to their entrepreneurship, vision and business excellence that we celebrate their success today."

The three companies were members of the former Saint John Board of Trade (now the Chamber) which was instrumental in organizing and particip discussions from 1864 to 1867.

The chamber's annual general meeting will take place on the afternoon of May 18 and will culminate with a reception and gala dinner at the Marc honouring the 150-year-old companies. The keynote speaker and event details will be released in the coming weeks, according the press release.