TOBACCO CLOTH NATURAL

Historically, loose-weave "tobacco cloth" was draped over young crops to protect the fragile plants from the sun's glare. We've upcycled the same loose weave into a sheer window treatment ensemble, available in three different colors. Our Tobacco Cloth window collections are unlined and act as "sheer" window treatment for light filtering and include rod pockets for easy hanging.

Feeling true blue along with us? Deep navy patches are coordinated with another medium blue we call "country" in tone, with some "dirt on my boots" brown plaids mixed in to keep everything down to earth.

Our popular Natural Burlap fabric has been given the star treatment in the applique Stratton window collection. Unlined, the loosely woven cotton burlap base fabric has a soft hand feel while retaining the look of vintage burlap sacks used by grain suppliers. Enlarged stars are cut from fabrics found in the bedding collection for a coordinated look.

New to collection, our Stratton layered valance is crafted from fabrics in the patchwork quilt, is lined, and does not feature burlap.
